

MAYOR OF QUINCY MAKES CLEAN SWEEP

Leaving Only City Clerk at City Hall—Has Kept His Ante Election Promise—List of Thirty Appointees

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Mayor Miller of Quincy announced his official family to the city council at an adjourned meeting of that body last evening, and with but one exception—that of city clerk—there will be new heads of the various municipal departments after Monday, Feb. 2. The mayor is evidently a man of his word. He promised such a change before election so that it did not come unexpected, although with many mayors campaign promises are soon forgotten.

The "sweep" is in keeping with his ante-election promise that he would, if elected, "clean up the city hall," and he informed a reporter that every appointee has given assurance of acceptance and of entering promptly on the discharge of his duties.

The age limit set only on the highest salaried official—commissioner of public works, receiving $2400—but it has also been along the line, many of the positions of honor and no salary being included. A few of the minor offices, which have recently been brought under the civil service, have been left untouched, as well as that of city engineer with salary of $1800, for the present, at least.

List of Appointees

The following is the list: City treasurer, John Curtis; solicitor, Walter S. Pinkham; clerk, Emory L. Crane; public works commissioner, Moses Brown; collector, John J. O'Hara; overseer of the poor, Perry Green; engineer of the fire department, Faxon E. Billings; city physician, Dr. Fred A. Bartlett; chairman of the board of assessors, Gustave B. Bates; inspector of buildings, L. C. Merrill; inspector of milk, Daniel Schouler, Jr.; inspector of animals, Francis Aberle, Jr.; dock and waterfront commissioner, Frank Fessenden Crane; inspector of plumbing, Jeremiah J. Kenney; inspector of meats and provisions, James P. Allen; park commissioner, Ira M. Whittemore; Walter Deacon and H. B. Chapman, managers of public burial places, Albert W. Fay, Thomas Bishop, Joseph Vogel, John Evans, Howard Rogers and John Q. Cudworth; trustees of public library, Charles A. Safford, Henry McGrath, George A. Sidelinger, Albert M. Murray, George Aberle and Harry W. Reid.

The new treasurer, Mr. Curtis, and the collector, Mr. O'Hara, held the same offices for four years under Mayor Shea. City Solicitor-to-be Pinkham has been president of the council, and the future chief of the fire department, Faxon E. Billings, is acting captain of the combination company at Atlantic and a veteran fire fighter. The next public works commissioner, Moses L. Brown, has seen service with the Massachusetts highway commission. For Chief Assessor Bates this will be his first public position.

AT PISTOL POINT TWO MEN THIEVES

Officer of Mineworkers Held Up and Robbed While Riding on Train

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 20.—J. Rodda, of Frostburg, Md., a local officer of the United Mineworkers, was held up and robbed at the point of a pistol while riding on a Baltimore & Ohio train bound from New York to St. Louis near this city late last night. The police are searching for a man from Frostburg who is suspected. A copy of the United Mineworkers' membership roll was taken from Rodda, after which the holdup man backed to the car platform and jumped from the train as it slowed down at the junction near here.

Few of the passengers knew what had happened until the man had left the train.

SEVEN KILLED IN DESPERATE PRISON BATTLE

Three Convicts in Dash for Liberty at McAlester, Okla., Shot Down Officers—Chased and Riddled With Bullets

McALESTER, Okla., Jan. 20.—Quiet prevailed today at the state penitentiary, where last night seven persons lost their lives during a battle between guards and three convicts who attempted to escape. Bodies of the three prison employees shot down while at their posts of duty and the three convicts were at the penitentiary morgue, while in the city, a few miles distant, the body of Judge John R. Thomas of Muskogee, a visitor at the prison, killed by a convict's bullet, awaited final preparation for shipment to relatives.

In the prison hospital suffering from bullet wounds were Miss Mary Foster, telephone operator at the prison, John Martin, turnkey, and C. L. Wood, guard. The bodies of H. H. Drover, head of the Bertillon department, Patrick Oats, assistant deputy warden, and P. C. Godfrey, a guard, are awaiting word from relatives as to their disposition which was expected to come today.

Guns Smuggled Into Prison

Pistols, smuggled into the prison, and reaching the hands of Charles Koontz, China Reed and Tom Lane, the convicts who lost their lives in a dash for liberty, were the cause of the tragedy.

Today Warden Dick continued the searching investigation in the hope of discovering the means by which the weapons came within the walls. The report came from Oklahoma City that a special commission might be appointed to investigate the affair.

Armed with their pistols, Reed, Lane and Koontz when labor ended for the day in the tailor shop, where they were employed, made their way through the basement storeroom and up a dark stairway to the entry room of the main building. There John Martin, the turnkey, before he realized what the presence of the men meant was shot through the cheek.

Quickly the men took his keys.

Shot Through Heart

With a shout to the other prisoners to join them, the trio rushed forward. Oats, the assistant warden, was in their path. Reed shot him through the heart. Near the door of the warden's office sat Judge Thomas, who was waiting to see Warden Dick on business.

"Boys, I'm an innocent bystander, just here on private business," the judge called as he sprang to his feet and put up his hands.

In reply came a shot from the convicts and he fell dead.

Another shot wounded Wood, a guard. Miss Foster, the telephone operator, then came in for work. One of the convicts had overturned the switchboard, hoping to disconnect the wires.

By this time convicts were shouting cheering words to the escaping men and guards were shooting as they ran about to quell the outbreak.

Carry Girl as Shield

Half crouching as the rifles of the guards cracked from various quarters, the three convicts hesitated but only for an instant. As they neared the doorway they lifted the telephone operator and, carrying her as a shield, rushed from the building.

Godfrey, one of the guards, attempted to halt them. Promptly he was shot to death. A bullet that went wild passed through the officers' door of Drover, the Bertillon expert, and killed that official.

Out of the building, Reed, Koontz, and Lane made their way on a trot to the barrier, and sprang into a buggy. Lashing the horse, the convicts sped down the road. Their liberty was of short duration, however. Guards on horses quickly came within shooting distance and a running fight began.

The convicts made a desperate fight as the buggy lurched along, but it was soon over. Bullet after bullet from the guns of the guards found their mark and when the horse at last fell from a shot the three convicts lay dead in the buggy.

STRIKERS BACK TO WORK

Delaware & Hudson R. R. Yields to Demands and Reinstates Two Discharged Employees

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Operations on the Delaware & Hudson railroad had reached practically normal proportions today in striking contrast to its paralyzed condition during the 16 hour strike yesterday. The strike came to an end last night when officials of the company at the suggestion of G. W. Hanger of the federal board of mediation and conciliation acceded to the demands of the employees. By the terms of agreement two employees who had been discharged for alleged violation of the company rules will be reinstated.

SALISBURY BEACH AGAIN

Bill to Have Constitution Amended in Order to Allow Land to be Seized for Public Use

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Representative Abbott of Haverhill files the petition of Arthur Harrington of Boston, counsel for the cottage owners at Salisbury beach last year for legislation to amend the state constitution so as to allow public bodies to take land by the right of eminent domain. The intent of this proposed change is to get over the constitutional point that made inoperative the work of the Salisbury Beach Reservation commission last year. The article of amendment proposed by Mr. Harrington is as follows:

Article ten of part one of the constitution of the commonwealth is hereby amended by adding thereto the following paragraph: The legislature may take or authorize public bodies to take land by right of eminent domain on payment of just compensation therefor and hold, lease, use or sell the same at such times and for such purposes as it believes to be for the common good.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH

LAWRENCE, Jan. 20.—Writhing on the floor with her clothes and body a mass of flames, Mrs. Mary A. Burekel, widow of Henry Burekel and mother of ex-Representative Alfred J. Burekel, was found at her home early Monday morning. She died a few hours later after being removed to the Lawrence General hospital. Just how her clothing caught fire could not be ascertained but it is felt that she was putting wood or coal on a fire in the kitchen stove when her apron ignited.

CENSORING PLAYS NOT MAYOR'S BUSINESS

Ex-Alderman Cummings Points Out That the Charter Places This Duty in Commissioner Donnelly's Hands

"What is all this talk about this mayor's private secretary censoring plays, vaudeville and moving pictures? What has the mayor or his private secretary got to do about it?" said ex-Commissioner Cummings this morning. "They haven't anything to do about it," he continued, "because the theatres or playhouses do not come under their jurisdiction. They are not included in the mayor's department and if a show was of color it wouldn't be up to the mayor or his private secretary."

"The theatres come under the department of public property and licenses which includes the following sub-departments, and all boards and offices connected therewith, to wit: buildings, parks, public grounds, cemeteries, electrical, weights and measures and license commission. So you can plainly see that this matter is up to Commissioner Donnelly and not to the mayor. I had applications for the position last year and the year before but did not consider them very seriously. I visited the theatres myself several times for that purpose and ordered several changes, too."

This statement came in the nature of a surprise to the mayor's secretary who had been denouncing all the dramatic criticism he could find and even studying the Anthony Comstock prohibited list in order that he might get fully equipped in the art of dramatic and theatrical criticism.

Mr. Cummings did the work during his term of service without any brass bands or private secretaries.

MORE ICE RACES

Another Program Arranged for Thursday Afternoon

If the weather holds just right Lowell will be treated to a series of good ice races. It's a long time since such enthusiasm and interest has been shown in horse racing as is being made manifest at the present time and this is all due to the fact that a good few wires is at the head of it.

Oscar Dewell is the man behind and he is arranging for a second program to be pulled off on Thursday afternoon of this week. The races Saturday afternoon attracted so many people to the scene of battle and so much interest was shown on all sides that Mr. Dewell decided to plan another race as soon as possible.

Entire races, thus far, for the Thursday afternoon program are as follows:

Class A, pace—Counterbeater, owned by Mike Senecal; John W., owned by Kemp and Gordon. Class C, pace—Fred S., owned by Geo. Parker; Cracker Boy, owned by Frank Orenutt; Wilma, owned by William Hall; Cabot, owned by Richard Murphy. Class B, trot—Bessie P., owned by P. Provencher; Frank O., owned by Frank Orenutt; Prince M., owned by Joseph LePage. Class D, trot—Cook Robin, owned by Frank Dimodana; Single K., owned by Mike Senecal; King Direct, Jr., owned by Richard Murphy. Class E, pace—Bill and Eileen.

Friday night, at the Lowell board of trade rooms, a meeting of Lowell horse men will be held for the purpose of forming a Lowell Driving club with the purpose in view of developing the speedway on the northerly side of the boulevard.

HITCHIE AND MURPHY, APRIL 3
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—While Ritchie and Tommy Murphy will meet here April 3, this announcement of the oft-postponed lightweight championship battle was made today after a conference between the promoter and the champion as to when the latter believed his injured foot would be in shape. The weight will be 135 pounds one hour before entering the ring.

SIGNS WITH PIRATES

OLD TIME FANS
Will Meet at Arlington Today—Arthur Salmon the Guiding Spirit

There will be a big time in Arlington this afternoon and evening when friendships of long years' standing will be renewed. The fellows who played the national game way back in 1873-4-5 will be the guests of Freeman N. Young in Arlington. The committee in charge includes Arthur F. Salmon, William H. Hawes and Charles O. Hall. These, we take it, are members of the old Bartlett baseball team, the conquering heroes of two score years ago. The Bartletts met and defeated such worthy competitors as the Pastimes of Chelmsford, Hickory club of Billerica, Leadhills of Lowell, Merrimacks, North Chelmsford, Excelsiors of Lowell, King Phillips of Boston, Mutuals of Boston, Actives of South Weymouth, Emmets of Lowell, Noddies of East Boston, Stars of Boston, and a dozen others. Members of the old Bartlett team who went to Boston today included, Capt. George Worthen, superintendent of state aid, Arthur Salmon, Charles O. Hall, Al. Ashworth, George Gleason, William Hawes, James Hanson and Frank McLaughlin of Lowell and Dr. Howard of Chelmsford. The Bartletts' old catcher, Eugene Stoughton, is in Cuba and a letter, which he addressed to Mr. Young was read at the meeting.

Supt. Thomas Lees of the Bay State Street Railway company states it would be impossible to change the time of the last cars from Merrimack square in order to accommodate the passengers aboard the late theatre train, which would mean a delay of 15 minutes. He said the residents of Tewksbury, the Oaklands and Belvidere can be accommodated by taking the last electric car at Wilmington, which waits for the theatre train. The theatre train arrives at the Northern station at 12:40 o'clock, while the last cars for all lines of the Bay State St. Railway leave Merrimack square at 12:30 a. m.

CONSIDER COUNTY ROAD

The County Commission May Lay Out Road From Bridge St. to New Boulevard

The three members of the county commission, Messrs. Barlow, Gould and Williams, and Robert F. Marden, representing the highway committee of the Lowell board of trade, met at the court house on Gosham street this morning and discussed the matter of building a new road from Bridge street to connect with the new Lowell-Lawrence boulevard. No definite action was taken and it is expected that the matter will be taken up at the meeting of the commission council to be held in the board of trade rooms this evening.

MAYOR'S SECRETARY AS SHOW CENSOR

John H. Cull, the mayor's private secretary and censor of shows, says that he does not intend to be too finicky in the matter of show censorship and that he is going to depend entirely upon his own views in the matter. He says he will not have to devote much attention to the moving picture shows as the pictures are passed upon by the state police before they get here.

"I am going to visit the theatres as often as my time will permit," said Mr. Cull, "and I intend to exercise my best judgment and I am not going to be finicky. I am of the impression that a great many performers insert lines of their own in order to attract attention hoping thereby to get some cheap advertising. These are the people whom I will be most particular about and they will not get the kind of advertising they are looking for."

It was suggested to Mr. Cull that the play "Damaged Goods" was coming to Lowell this week and that the play had been criticized in certain quarters as being a bit too suggestive of certain things. "In the case of one-act or one-night shows," said Mr. Cull, "we will be unable to do anything of the kind. Perhaps to bear them in mind and refuse them a return engagement if their offering is shady. I consider the censorship of shows a very important thing and I understand that ex-Mayor O'Donnell had in mind the appointment of a censor for shows and that there were several applicants for the job. I am going to devote as much time as possible to it."

Mayor Murphy was not at his office at city hall this forenoon. His private secretary, Mr. Cull, said the mayor had gone to Boston. The four commissioners were at their offices and reported "nothing doing." Commissioner

4 MEN NEARLY KILLED

Plasterers Had Narrow Escape When Staging Collapsed on New Theatre Building

Four plasterers employed at the new theatre at the corner of Merrimack and Tremont streets, owned by Harpout & Topjian, had a narrow escape from death this noon, when the staging upon which they were working, and situated about 30 feet from the floor, broke. Two of them, Messrs. Joseph Levasseur and James J. St. Hilaire, were injured, while the others, Philip Pratte and Frank Warlock, miraculously escaped injury.

The four men were working on a staging a part of the forenoon. At 11:55 o'clock without any warning whatever to the workmen the staging collapsed. Frank Warlock felt the planking going and he rushed to the other end of the platform and grabbed what is known as a ledger board and remained suspended in the air while his companions were thrown forcibly to the floor below.

Some of the boards of the staging struck the floor with such force that they crashed through it and dropped to the floor under one of the heavy planks but fortunately received but a slight injury to his ankle. Mr. Levasseur was caught between some of the planks and an old piano which is in the theatre and his fall of plaster was spilled over his head, a large quantity of the plaster going into his eyes. He also received a fracture of his ankle. The ambulance was summoned and Levasseur was removed to the Lowell hospital, while St. Hilaire was able to go to his home unassisted.

While the two injured men were being cared for some of the other workmen put up a ladder and helped Warlock down from his perilous position, while Pratte was brushing his clothes when the worse for his fall. It was fortunate, so stated one of those who witnessed the accident, that some of the men were not seriously injured. The men are employed by Contractor Eusebio Chilcote, who has the general contract of building the theatre.

FALL BREAKS LEG THIRD TIME
NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Adolph Schroeder, a former Greenpoint saloon keeper, fell in Manhattan avenue, Williamsburg, yesterday and his right leg was broken for the third time in sixteen months. In September, 1912, he slipped and his thigh was fractured, and in a tumble last fall his leg was broken above the knee. He was laid up nearly two months on both occasions.

Schroeder has made it a point to move very cautiously since the last accident. He was walking at a snail's pace yesterday when he lost his footing, his leg bending under him and the bone snapped above the ankle.

He said he realized he was going for two more months in bed. He was taken to his home at 105 Clay street, Williamsburg.

$250,000 SHIP PLANS BURNED
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—Two persons were severely burned, an invalid woman and three children were rescued and battleship plans valued at $250,000 were destroyed last night in a fire that demolished the pattern shop of the William Camp & Son Ship & Engine Building Co.

The plans which were burned included the specifications for all domestic and foreign battleships which have been built by the Cramp company in the last 20 years. They were compiled by noted battleship experts at an expense of $250,000.

The loss to the building is estimated at $100,000.

The skating rink at Shedd park, was in good condition yesterday, and it is estimated that over 5000 people, young and old, enjoyed a part of the day spinning around the pond. The crowd was most orderly throughout the day. None of the more dangerous games was played as the park department had several men on the ice to look after the interest of the skaters and to see that no accidents occurred on account of the playing of the rougher games.

The above photograph shows only a portion of the park, which is one of the largest and best in this part of the state. The light snow of Thursday night and Friday morning made little difference with the park department plan for maintaining the skating rink, and the snow was cleared away until a fine surface showed through.

All day yesterday the skaters were coming and going from the park, and all seemed satisfied with the condition of the ice. Although the temperature was rather low and there was a strong northwestern wind blowing throughout the day, this did not interfere with the lovers of this outdoor sport and on the whole the day proved a very enjoyable one.

The weather man has certainly been kind to the skaters this year and they have been given more opportunities to enjoy themselves at this sport during the last month than at any time for several seasons. Those in charge of keeping the park in condition have met with little trouble so far this year and there is no doubt but the winter of 1913-14 will be a record one for skating in Lowell.

All the 200 or more women and children were not expected before night and it may be tomorrow before they are loaded upon the ten trains which are to carry them to El Paso.

BILL TO LEND MONEY
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Senator Norris introduced a bill today for a bureau in the department of agriculture to lend money on farm land at four per cent for a period of five years to be repaid at the rate of one-fifth each year.

The bureau would get its funds by issuing three and one-half per cent bonds of the United States.

CUBAN LOAN OF $10,000,000
HAVANA, Jan. 19.—The final details of the contract between the Cuban government and J. P. Morgan & Co. for a loan of $10,000,000 were discussed today at a meeting of the secretary of the treasury and Norman Davidson, representing J. P. Morgan & Co. The latter was accompanied by a Cuban notary.

TO REFORM N. Y. POLICE DEPT.
NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Reforms in the police department as suggested by a special committee of the board of aldermen after the murder of Herman Rosenthal in July, 1912, are to be adopted by Mayor Mitchell. Announcement to this effect was made by the mayor this afternoon. Under the new relations inspectors will be abolished, a secret service squad will be created to watch for corruption within the department and there will be special vice squads operating from headquarters to combat gambling and the social evil.

FOR STEEL PASSENGER CARS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Legislation to enforce the use of steel passenger cars was taken up today by the house commerce committee. Representative Ebel's bill to replace all wooden cars by steel ones within four years was opposed by George A. Post, president of the Railroad Business association. He recommended that the interstate commerce commission be empowered to determine the time and character of the new cars.

Mr. Post declared that the cost of replacing the wooden cars now in operation with steel cars would aggregate $32,000,000.

HEERMANN DENIES REPORT
CINCINNATI, Jan. 19.—President August Heermann of the Cincinnati National league club said he had received no demand from Thomas Clark for $6000 for the coming season.

"Further," said Mr. Heermann, "I do not care to discuss the Federal league."

CARD OF THANKS
We, the undersigned, wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their floral and spiritual offerings and words of sympathy which helped to lighten our grief caused by the loss of our dear wife and mother.

Athletes and Athletics

The Mike Glover-Jack Britton strap-tight in New York will doubtless furnish some fun. The two are expected to stage one of the hottest battles seen for some time in the big city and both are in the pink of condition for the go. The Boston boy's friends are claiming at least a newspaper decision for him and if he does hang the sign on the Chicago boxer he will not be in need of a manager for some time to come. The man who can pass out a beating to Jack Britton will find himself flooded with bright offers.

Another bout that will be watched with interest is the Chip-O'Neill fight in Grand Rapids, Mich. Chip has been laying low since his recent title battle with Frankie Klus and has just finished a theatrical engagement. O'Neill is tough and can box and if Chip floors him he will have to be in shape.

The basketball game at the Y. M. C. tomorrow night between the Institute's five and the fast Pony A. C. should prove quite a drawing card. Both aggregations have a large following and the contest will doubtless develop some real sport. The Y. M. C. I. shooters have improved a great deal since the beginning of the season.

Tom Halpin's wonderful exhibition Saturday night in the 600 yard run at the Postoffice A. C. in New York is an incentive to Ted Meredith to stretch himself during the coming season. Halpin ran the distance in 1:14 flat, a fifth of a second slower than the world's record made by Meredith. It is the best year of his career during the coming indoor games.

The Federals are gaining every day in strength no matter what may be said to the contrary by the press agents of the various major league clubs. Their recent lease of a big slice of land in Cargoes, a baseball park already has the Yankees and the Giants guessing. The new ball park will be more accessible than either of the diamonds now used by the Americans and Nationals.

The Paris six-day race, finished last night in one of the greatest bursts of speed that such an event ever developed. Hourlier and Cotes, a French team, won the grind. The American team, Fogler and Moran, were tenth at the finish. Fogler and Moran both suffered bad falls during the race and were in no condition to pedal out the last finish made by the winners.

MAN STILL BARRICADED WILL OF JOSIAH FLETCHER

DEARSDLEY, WHO SHOT OVERSEER OF POOR, STILL HOLDS POSSE AT LAW

MAYVILLE, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The siege of Edward Beardsley, the Sumnerville farmer today resolved itself into a waiting game. The outlaw has agreed to give himself up Wednesday, but only on his own terms. He stipulated that the nine children who have been his safeguard since the siege began, be taken to the home of his brother, Charles, in Titusville, and that he be permitted to go, jail in Mayville in custody of his lawyer, Ray Pickard of Jamestown. Pending decisions Sheriff Anderson and his posse are keeping guard at their camp, well out of range of Beardsley's rifle.

A week ago Tuesday Beardsley shot J. Putnam, overseer of the poor of Chautauque county and since that time has had complete control of the situation.

MATRIMONIAL
A pretty marriage was performed this morning at a nuptial mass in the private chapel of St. Joseph's rectory, when Mr. Joseph E. M. Moineau, a prominent business man of Montreal, Que., and Miss Marianne J. Belanger, a well known young woman of this city, were united in marriage.

The officiating clergyman was Rev. E. J. Chaput, O. M. I., and the ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock. The happy couple were attended by Messrs. Ovide Leclerc and Prudent. At the close of the ceremony the bride and groom were seated at a table in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ovide Leclerc, 294 Moody street, where a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Moineau were the recipients of many costly gifts, left on the 9:45 o'clock train for Boston. After a short honeymoon visit to Montreal, Que., where they will make their home.

TRETAULT-TREFOIS
Mr. Joseph Tretaault and Miss Andree Trefois, two well known young people of this city were married this morning at a nuptial mass celebrated at 5:15 o'clock at St. Joseph's church by Rev. Armand Barre, O. M. REHEARS COIN SILVER PIECES
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Roberto Pesquera, the Mexican constitutionalist agent here, was advised by General Carranza today that the state note issues of Sinaloa, Chihuahua and Sonora were being taken out of the hands of the constitutionalist government and that arrangements were being made to secure the latter with a silver reserve. Constitutionalists in Sinaloa have been coining silver pieces.

TALKS ON ROAD BUILDING

Before Community Council Board of Trade by State Road Superintendent of New Hampshire

Highway surveyors, selection and many others interested in road building assembled in the board of trade rooms in the Central block last evening to hear S. Percy Hooker, state road superintendent in New Hampshire, give a practical discussion of gravel roads and of road construction and maintenance problems. The meeting was held under the auspices of the community council of the board of trade and the city of Lowell was well represented.

Mr. Hooker's talk was very interesting and instructive and he outlined his experience in building roads throughout the state of New Hampshire. He showed that many of the best roads do not cost as much as the best type of state and macadam roads.

He stated that the object of all road commissioners should be to obtain a satisfactory road for the traffic it received and then maintain it every day in the year. The speaker favored gravel roads except when the traffic is extra heavy and stated that cities should build perfect roads for heavy traffic no matter what the cost might be. The cost of maintenance would be too heavy unless the road was properly built in the first place.

The three essentials in road building are drainage, grade and alignment. He spoke at some length on the question of drainage and said it would be just as well to leave the water in the middle of the road as to divert it only to the ditch beside the road. In the matter of grades, he argued that it is a mistake to attempt to make long, steady grades instead of allowing short portions of steeper grade to intervene between the stretches of lesser grade. In alignment he urged that bad curves be reduced.

Mr. Hooker emphasized his point by declaring that it is necessary to spend as much money on the three essentials on a cheap road as for one on which a surface costing $14,000 a mile was to be placed. The essentials remained the same for all roads whether macadam, gravel or dirt and without careful attention to these essentials any road would not serve its purpose long.

A gravel road he described as the ideal automobile highway. He said it is the best to ride over and if the proper materials are used and the road is carefully maintained it will continue to improve rather than deteriorate. It is the method of maintenance that makes it possible to have the cheaper roads and not until a proper system of patrolling the roads is established can the cheaper roads be entirely satisfactory.

To patrol a road he would have each town employ men to take 12 mile sections and have each man use a horse, cart, material, common sense and industry to keep his 12 miles in shape eight months in the year. He did not favor bituminous treatment of gravel roads.

After speaking for about a half an hour he called for questions and then there was an open discussion as to how to build and maintain roads. Mr. Hooker proved to be very well versed on the subject and answered the questions to the satisfaction of the members of the council.

DID CHILD WAKE UP CROSS OR FEVERISH?

Look, Mother! If Tongue is Coated, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

NO REPLY FROM ELLIOT

DECLINED TO MAKE ANY COMMENT ON SERMON PREACHED BY CARDINAL O'CONNELL

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Dr. Chas. W. Elliott of Harvard refused yesterday to make any comment on the sermon preached in Boston on Sunday by Cardinal O'Connell attacking the "new" religion. He was found at the Harvard club, and when shown the despatch read it through. He had nothing to say in regard to the criticisms made of the so-called new religion.

CHANGES IN LAW

Stanley's Bill Would Void Justice White's Anti-Trust Ruling

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Representative Augustus O. Stanley of Kentucky has introduced a bill providing for two changes in the phraseology of the Sherman law. The first change provides that the law shall state specifically that every attempt at restraint of trade or monopoly "in any degree" is illegal. It is aimed at the supreme court's "rule of reason" theory in the Standard Oil case in which Chief Justice White wrote the decision. The second gives district attorneys power to institute suits on their individual initiative without specific directions from the department of justice. Mr. Stanley offered this bill soon after he had returned from an interview with President Wilson.

THINGS TO EAT

Brookline Woman Gives Talk on Normal Diet for Healthy Body

At the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon, Mrs. H. L. B. Darling of Brookline, gave an interesting talk on "Normal Diet for a Healthy Body." It was the first in a series of lectures and demonstrations on domestic science.

Mrs. Darling said that if we ate that we might live, our diet would be very simple, and there would be no questions of the high cost of living.

A typical breakfast of the working man who eats that he may live, she described as consisting of corn-meal mush, with sugar and skimmed milk, pork scraps, the fat of which is used on bread and potato instead of butter, and tea or coffee. This, she said, is a good breakfast, so far as food value is concerned. Unfortunately, it lacks acid, which we think we must have and which is good for us; but the person who eats that he may live, does not indulge in grapefruit or oranges.

Mrs. Darling described the Sunday dinner in many families as consisting of cream of celery soup, roast beef, Franconia potatoes, tomato and lettuce salad, macaroni and cheese, chocolate cream and black coffee. All cream soups are rich in protein and should therefore not be served with a roast meat dinner. Then macaroni is almost a meal in itself, and should not be served with roasts. Franconia potatoes absorb the rich fat from the meat, and very often to that is added Yorkshire pudding, which is made of eggs, also abounding in nutrient. The tomato and lettuce salad is good. We need the acid with that kind of meal; but we commonly add to it a mayonnaise dressing, which is made of nutritive products; and the dessert, chocolate cream, is another nutritive food product. It is no wonder, she said, that we get sleepy after our Sunday dinner.

Another tip given to food providers was that the kind of vegetables that are valuable because they contain the right chemical substances, are not generally known. For instance, spinach contains the largest per cent. of iron of any vegetable. Other vegetables mentioned, that are valuable because of the mineral substances they contain, are especially the dried beans and peas that we make our purées of, whole wheat, parsnips, cabbage and celery. It is a good rule, she said, not to serve macaroni and cheese and meat at the same meal; and not to serve potato and rice at the same meal. In the latter case there is too much starch.

THAW CALLS LAWYERS

SUMMONED HIS PRINCIPAL N. H. ATTORNEYS TO CONCORD—BRIEF MUST BE FILED MONDAY

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 20.—Alarm over the latest activities of the New York state officials, Harry K. Thaw has summoned his principal New Hampshire lawyers to Concord to confer with them in the preparation of the brief which they must file before Monday.

The Thaw case will soon come to Boston, for no matter which side wins in the present habeas corpus proceedings, the case will be appealed to the federal court at Boston.

The brief of the state of New York already has been filed by Joseph W. Thaw, Thaw's representative. The Thaw lawyers have until Monday to file theirs. With both briefs in the hands of Judge Aldrich, a hearing will probably be held late next week.

Late yesterday afternoon the first department was summoned to 15 Hall street, to the property of the Tremont & Suffolk Co., where a slight breeze had been started by an overheard story. The tenement was occupied by Carlos Jesus and his family. There was no damage.

MRS. EATON DENIES STORY

REPORTED THAT HER DAUGHTER, DOROTHY, HAD BEEN THROWN ON HER OWN RESOURCES

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Jennie M. Eaton, widow of Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton of Annapolis, denied emphatically that her younger daughter, Dorothy Almsworth-Eaton, had been thrown on her own resources.

"If the people are so greatly interested in my daughter, they could best show it by returning to me the more than $10,000 which was taken from me by the state of Massachusetts by reason of my recent trial," said Mrs. Eaton yesterday.

Dorothy Eaton, the 16 year old girl who created so much sympathy during her mother's trial because of her being an invalid, is in Boston studying art at a local art school. During this period she has made her home with Miss Wiswell, 2 Arborway court, Forest Hills. It was stated recently that the girl had met with difficulty in maintaining herself at her present home and that she was obliged to seek other quarters. While it is true that she is going to change her location Mrs. Eaton denies that it is due to any trouble between the girl and Miss Wiswell or to her withdrawing her aid from the girl.

MUNSEY FOR FEBRUARY

Some Magazine

For October, 1900, we got out a particularly good number of The Munsey. I said so on the cover—a plain, matter-of-fact, signed statement that it was the best number we had ever issued.

Such an innovation, such a shocking disregard of conventionality, was intolerable in the eyes of the newspaper paragraphers. I bore up tolerably well under the criticism, however, and the magazine itself struggled along with its increased sale of over a hundred thousand copies on that number alone.

Now we have in the February Munsey another "best number we have ever issued." But this best number makes the other one look small and indifferent. That number had 160 pages; this one has 234 pages. That number cost to go to press $5000; this one cost $20,000. That number contained short instalments of two serial stories; this one contains, in the place of these serials, a full-length $1.50 book novel, published complete in one issue. That number had some good articles; this one has a whaling lot of them. Here they are:

THE CZAR AND HIS FAMILY	Winthrop Biddle
THE POSTER CAMPAIGN AGAINST ALCOHOL	Michael Callahan
THE SHOP	Frank A. Munsey
A FERVID VISION OF AMERICA	Francis Grierson
CHILDREN IN PAINTINGS	Clayton Hamilton
WHERE THE THEATRE FALLS SHORT	Brander Matthews
THE SENSES AND MODERN LIFE	Sir Gilbert Parker
OUR FIFTEEN YEARS' WORK IN THE PHILIPPINES	Dean C. Worcester
THE COLOSSAL GROWTH OF THE SAVINGS-BANK	Isaac F. Marcossan
DRY-CLEANING THE DRAMA	Burns Mantle
IMPERISHABLE FICTION	Richard LeGallienne

6 Short Stories : 17 Poems : 100 Illustrations

And a rattling good novel by FRANK L. PACKARD, entitled

The Miracle Man

In book form this novel will cost you $1.50; in the February Munsey it will cost you 15 cents. And it is published in The Munsey first. The publication of a complete book-length $1.50 novel in each issue of The Munsey is its great new distinguishing feature. No other standard, illustrated magazine does this; no other has ever attempted it.

3 ESCAPE IN DAYLIGHT

Burglars Rip Up Planks in Prison Van on Way to Jail and Drop to Liberty in Street

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Ripping the floor boards from the prison van as it was being driven through Cambridge street, West End, on its way from the Suffolk county courthouse to the Charles street jail three notorious house breakers, who had been sentenced for trial, made their escape in broad daylight yesterday afternoon. The first two made their escape without detection, while the third was seen as he dropped to the street, narrowly escaping being run over by the wheels of the vehicle. He was chased through Blossom street by Patrolman Cusack of the 1st street station, but eluded capture by dodging into a narrow alleyway off Anderson street.

The men who escaped were Charles Roman, better known as "Raffles," the gentleman burglar, express thief and pickpocket; George A. Ward and William H. Jones, better known as "Casey" Jones, both mulattoes, who were arrested early Sunday morning charged with a series of burglaries in the Back Bay, Dorchester and in Kennebunk and Sanford, Me.

The men had been in the custody of the staff of Chief Inspector John R. McGarr during the entire forenoon, being questioned by the officers and Deputy Sheriff Ernest Jones of Sanford, Me. They were returned to the city prison and shortly after 2 o'clock were arraigned before Judge Ely in the municipal court.

Roman and Ward pleaded not guilty to the charges of breaking and entering two houses in the Back Bay and were held in $1200 until Jan. 25 for a hearing. Jones waived examination and was held in $1700 for the grand jury, an additional charge of carrying a loaded revolver being made against him.

After court had adjourned George L. Twombly, a court officer in the municipal court, was assigned to take 10 prisoners to the Charles street jail in the regular van. The driver of the van, Cornelius J. Brennan, backed his wagon up to the courtyard door and Court Officer Twombly placed the 10 men in the van, securely locked the rear door, the only door in the van, with padlock and climbed on the seat with Driver Brennan.

The van went down Somerset street to Howard street, in Cambridge. Both Driver Brennan and Officer Twombly were engaged in conversation as the horses in a slow trot wended their way towards the jail.

After the wagon had passed South Russell street both Brennan and Twombly heard considerable noise in the van being made by the prisoners. They paid no attention to the matter and it was not until after the van had reached the jail yard that they learned the cause of the disturbance. The other prisoners who refused to take the chance of escape had been pounding in an effort to tell the officer and driver that three prisoners had made their escape.

Both Officer Twombly and the jail officials were dumfounded when the door of the van was opened and but seven men stepped from it while Officer Twombly held 10 commitment papers in his hand.

Investigation revealed that the wooden boards had been ripped up and a hole large enough for a man to drop through had been made. Chief Inspector John R. McGarr sent out 18 inspectors, all of whom know the three fugitives well, to search for them. The alarm was sent to every station house in the city, and inside of 20 minutes the entire force was searching for the men. Word was also transmitted to the surrounding police officials in the various towns.

Despite the efforts of the police the men are still at large.

NARROW ESCAPE

Mason Slipped From 8 Story Staging and Dangled in Mid Air

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Eight stories above the street level, Charles Anderson of Morrison avenue, West Somerville, a mason working on the new city hall annex, hung by his hands on a single rope for over a minute yesterday afternoon before he was rescued from what seemed certain death. Unmoved by the shouts of his fellow workmen and many people who watched from the street below, he clung to the rope until he could again step onto the staging upon which he was standing a short while before. After alighting on the staging in safety, he calmly climbed into a window. Anderson and John Guidano of Revere were standing on the staging, pulling it up the side of the building.

with ropes, when the accident occurred. Guidano pulled his rope too fast, it is claimed, with the result that the staging became unbalanced. It partly tipped over, but Anderson caught the rope just as he was sliding off the boards. Guidano, on the higher end of the staging, did not lose his footing, and with the aid of other workmen he succeeded in drawing up the staging under Anderson so that the latter could get firmly upon it.

ADJ. GEN. PEARSON'S CASE

Ex-Adjutant Gen. Parker Has Put Case Up to Atty. Gen. Swift—May Go to Courts

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—The fight over the retention of Adjutant-General Gardner Pearson in office took an unexpected turn yesterday when ex-Adjutant-General James A. Parker announced that he had put up to Attorney-General Swift the point that Governor Walsh may appoint his successor at any time.

General Parker rests his case upon the contention that under one law last year the adjutant-general was legislated out of office, and that when a subsequent law was passed extending the term of the adjutant-general to five years it did not carry General Pearson along with it.

General Pearson says that when the second law was passed it did take him along with it. Now Attorney-General Swift in the last day of his office-holding is requested to clear up the tangle. His opinion may result in carrying the

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE ON TRUSTS

RECEIVER MURRAY OF
TRADERS BANK TALKS

Time for Filing Claims Has Expired But Not All Claims Have
Been Filed—The Work Thus
Delayed

The time allowed depositors of the Traders Nat. bank to file their claims
expires today, according to sec. 6725
of the National bank acts which states
that a notice requesting all persons who have claims against such an association must be published for 30
days. A notice to this effect was published on October 20, 1913 and the time
allowed terminates today.

The act reads as follows:

"The comptroller shall, upon appointing a receiver, cause notice to be given by advertisement in such newspapers as he may direct, for three consecutive months, calling on all persons
who may have claims against such association to present the same and to
make legal proof thereof."

However, it was stated at the bank
this morning that the claims of persons who have found it impossible to get to the bank during the past 30
days will be allowed providing they present said claims as soon as possible.

It is estimated that about seventy-
five per cent of the 17,000 depositors
have already filed their claims. It is believed that a number of the deposi-
tors who presented their pass books at
the bank a short time after it closed
have the impression that their part is completed but Receiver Murray stated
this forenoon that these persons have
only done the preliminary work and
they must return to the bank and file
proofs as to the amount of their deposits.

There is a large clerical force at

work at the bank daily balancing the
accounts and all claims will have to be
in before a dividend is declared.
Therefore the people who have held
back their slips or have not appeared
at the bank a second time are delaying
the work and also the payment of a dividend. There is considerable work
to be done after all claims are in and
the sooner the clerical work is completed the sooner a dividend will be paid.

Mr. Murray said this morning:

"There are 17,000 accounts and each
has to be balanced to determine whether or not there were any errors
in the preliminary work; then we investigate whether the claimant is indebted to the bank and if we find he is not, the claim is allowed. After that work is done all the claims have to be listed on a ledger, which is kept by the
receiver and each claim separated and
checked so that receivers' certificates
can be written. After that we can balance the accounts with the cash on hand and declare a dividend of a certain per cent."

"We then have to make out a check
to each depositor and send these to Washington to be signed. When they are returned they are given to the de-positors and can be cashed immediately."

"No estimate as to the amount of the
first dividend can yet be made but Mr.
Murray claims the interests of the
depositors will be carefully looked after and a dividend announced as soon
as possible."

FAVORS GOVERNMENT
REGULATION OF R.R.

Recommends Prohibition of Interlock-
ing Directorates and Law to Give Inter-State Commerce Board Power to Regulate the Financial Operations of Railroads—Says Private Monopoly is Indefensible and Intolerable—Antagonism Between Business and Government Over

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President
Wilson personally laid before a joint session of congress today the fundamental principles of the democratic administration's program for dealing with trusts and "big business." The president presented the case, he said,
"as it lies in the thought of the country," reiterating "that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable,"
and declaring that conscientious businessmen throughout the nation would
not be satisfied until practices now
decried by public opinion and as restraints of trade and commerce were
corrected.

"We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace," said the president, "the peace
that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

Besides suggesting the scope of legislation the president made a personal
appeal for an atmosphere of friendliness and cooperation in congress while
handling the problem.

"The antagonism," he said, "between business and government is over. We are now about to give expression to
the best judgment of America, to what
we know to be the business conscience

and honor of the land. The government
and business men are ready to meet
each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with
both public opinion and the law."

Chief Points for Legislation

The chief points which the president
singled out as a basis for legislation
were:

1.—Effectual prohibition of the inter-
locking of directorates of great corporations—banks, railroads, industrial,
commercial and public service bodies.

2.—A law to confer upon the interstate commerce commission the power
to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which railroads are hereafter to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development and improved transportation
facilities. "The president made it clear that 'the prosperity of the railroads
and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected' in this regard."

3.—Definition of "the many hurtful
restraints of trade" by explicit legislation supplementary to the Sherman
law.

4.—The creation of a commission to
aid the courts and to act as a clearing house of information in helping
business to conform with the law.

5.—Provision of penalties and punishments to fall upon individuals responsible for unlawful business practices.

6.—Prohibition of holding companies
and a suggestion that the voting power
of individuals holding shares in numerous corporations might be restricted.

7.—Giving to private individuals the right to found suits for redress on facts and judgments proven in government suits, and providing that statute of limitations should run only from the date of conclusion of the government's action.

Pres. Wilson's Message

The president was ushered into the
crowded chamber at 12:29 o'clock
while the audience rose and gave him
prolonged applause and cheers.

The president took his place at the
clerk's desk and began reading
promptly at 12:30. His audience gave rapt attention.

The president spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Congress:
"In my report on the state of the Union which I had the privilege of
reading to you on the 2nd of December last, I ventured to reserve for discussion at a later date the subject of
additional legislation regarding the
very difficult and intricate matter of trusts and monopolies. The time now

MR. MORSE PLANS
A BIG PAVING JOB

Will Lay Block Paving in Gorham
Street From Davis Square to
Corbett Street—City Treasurer
Collects Over $50,000

Commissioner Morse is making arrangements to pave Gorham street
from Davis Square to Corbett st. and
this will represent the biggest paving
job for 1914. Mr. Morse expects to have old blocks enough to do the job but he will not be sure about it until he gets
his estimates from the engineer's office.
The city engineer's office is busy on
the proposition at the present time.

The commissioner would not venture
any estimate of the cost but he allows
it will be some job as the distance is probably a mile, strong. He says the
considerably cheaper than new
blocks. In recutting the blocks, the nine inch block will be made into two four-inch blocks and Mr. Morse rather takes the position that the city never
should have sold any of its old blocks.
But the city has sold thousands upon
thousands of old blocks to the street
railway company, the mills and others.

"When I left the street department,"
said Mr. Morse, today, "I had made up my mind that I wouldn't buy any more
blocks and if the blocks hadn't been sold the city wouldn't have to buy any more."

Mr. Morse, at this point, called in Supt. Putnam to find out how many blocks he had sold when he, Putnam,
was superintendent of streets. Mr.
Putnam would not venture a guess as
to the number of blocks and Clerk
Tuttle was called in. And, right here, too, Charlie took occasion to remark
that somebody had suggested that there were too many clerks in the office of the commissioner of streets and
highways. "There were just as many clerks in this office when I left the
department as there are today," he said, and just then Clerk Tuttle ushered himself in with the figures.

He found that 213,618, second-hand
paving blocks, had been sold during
the years 1899 and 1910. He took it for granted that they had been sold by the
city during these two years because
the city was paid for the blocks. In 1911 and blocks are seldom paid for within a year or two of delivery. Some
of the blocks, however, were delivered
in 1911. Blocks delivered in 1909 and 1910 as follows: New England Construction Co., 27,260; Boston & Northwestern, 33,625; Merrimack mills, 5,000 and there was a second consignment of 18-
220 to the New England Construction
Co.

Blocks were delivered by the city in 1911 as follows: Bay State street railway, 59,889; Merrimack mills, 19,972.
The city received $27 a thousand for these blocks.

"I will not spend as much on paving
this year as was spent last year," said
Mr. Morse, "and the Gorham street job
will be by far the biggest job of the year."

In the proposition to continue the paving in Gorham street,
and it is absolutely necessary to pave
that street, because of its condition, I
will have to take care of Davis square
and I want you to understand that the square is a pretty big place. There isn't any street in Lowell where there
is more traffic than in Gorham street
and the paving laid there a few years
ago was imitation paving. It isn't the real stuff at all. I think there must be between 175,000 or 180,000 old
blocks at the ledge and they will come pretty near covering the job. I have five block cutters at work at the present time and I will increase the force
if necessary."

Too Many Bosses

Mr. Morse was asked relative to the discharge of an assistant superintendent of streets and other bosses or
men. "There were too many fore-
men here when I came on this time,"
said Mr. Morse, "and there are others
of them who will have to walk the
plank. The present charter doesn't provide for an assistant superintendent of streets or an assistant superintendent of sewers and those jobs
have been eliminated."

AUTO CRASHED INTO POLE

E. A. McQuade's Touring Car Al-
most Totally Wrecked—Chauf-
feur Had Narrow Escape

The large Oldsmobile touring car of
E. A. McQuade was almost totally wrecked shortly before one o'clock today when the machine skidded across
the slippery pavements on Church
street just below the Church Street
garage and crashed into one of the
iron poles of the Bay State Street
Railway Co. The car struck the pole
at a point in the rear of the front seat
and the tonneau was completely ripped off.

Edwin Knight, one of Mr. McQuade's
chauffeurs, was the only occupant of
the car at the time of the accident and
he was very fortunate indeed to escape
injury. If the pole had been located
two feet farther in front of the machine Knight would have been killed
in all probability.

Although protected with chained
wheels the huge auto refused to heed
the steering wheel when the driver
crossed the car tracks on Church
street and then attempted to straighten out his car. The front wheels were directed away from the point of contact enough, however, so that the car
struck side on instead of head on.

The damage to the machine cannot
be definitely estimated at present but
it is certain to be in the neighborhood
of $1000. The two front wheels and
the engine are practically all that are left intact. The rear springs are broken and wrenched so badly that it is doubtful if they can ever be utilized
again. The fixtures and furnishings of the tonneau are damaged beyond repair and the gears underneath the
machine are bent and twisted out of
all semblance to mechanical usefulness.

SEVEN KILLED IN PRISON BATTLE

Three Convicts in Dash for Liberty at McAlester, Okla., Shot Down Officers
—Chased and Riddled With Bullets

McALESTER, Okla., Jan. 20.—Quiet prevailed today at the state penitentiary, where last night seven persons lost their lives during a battle between guards and three convicts who attempted to escape. Bodies of the three prison employees shot down while at their posts of duty and the three convicts were at the penitentiary morgue,
while in the city, a few miles distant,
the body of Judge John R. Thomas of Muskegee, a visitor at the prison,
killed by a convict's bullet, awaited final preparation for shipment to relatives.

In the prison hospital suffering from bullet wounds were Miss Mary Foster,
telephone operator at the prison, John Martin, turnkey, and C. L. Wood guard.
The bodies of H. H. Dwyer, head of the Bertillon department, Patrick Oate, assistant deputy warden, and
P. C. Godfrey, a guard, are awaiting word from relatives as to their disposition which was expected to come today.

Guns Smuggled Into Prison

Pistols, smuggled into the prison,
and reaching the hands of Charles Koontz, China Reed and Tom Lane,
the convicts who lost their lives in a dash for liberty, were the cause of the tragedy.

Today Warden Dick continued the searching investigation in the hope of discovering the means by which the weapons came within the walls. The report came from Oklahoma City that a special commission might be appointed to investigate the affairs.

Armed with their pistols, Reed, Lane and Koontz when labor ended for the day in the tailor shop, where they were employed, made their way through the inmate storeroom and up a dark sideway to the entry room of the main building. There John Martin, the turnkey, before he realized what the presence of the men meant was shot through the cheek.

Quickly the men took his keys.

Shot Through Heart

With a shout to the other prisoners to join them, the trio rushed forward. Oats, the assistant warden, was in their path. Reed shot him through the heart. Near the door of the warden's office sat Judge Thomas, who was waiting to see Warden Dick on business.

"Boys, I'm an innocent bystander, just here on private business," the Judge called as he sprang to his feet
and put up his hands.

In reply came a shot from the convicts and he fell dead.

Another shot wounded Wood, a guard. Miss Foster, the telephone operator, then came in for work. One of the convicts had overthrown the switchboard, hoping to disconnect the wires.

By this time convicts were shouting

cheering words, to the escaping men and guards were shooting as they ran about to quell the outbreak.

Carry Girl as Shield

Half crouching as the rifles of the guards cracked from various quarters,
the three convicts hesitated but only for an instant. As they neared the doorway they lifted the telephone operator and carrying her as a shield rushed from the building.

Godfrey, one of the guards, attempted to halt them. Promptly he was shot to death. A bullet that went wild passed through the officers' door of Dwyer, the Bertillon expert and killed that official.

Out of the building, Reed, Koontz,
and Lane made their way on a trot to the gate. None of the guards dared to shoot for fear of killing Miss Foster. A shot finally was fired and it hit
Miss Foster in the leg.

Convicts Dead In Buggy

Rushing the gate the three men dropped their burden, unlocked the barrier and sprang into a buggy. Lashing the horse, the convicts sped down the road. Their liberty was of short duration, however. Guards on horses quickly came within shooting distance and a running fight began. The convicts made a desperate fight as the buggy lurched along but it was soon over.

Bullet after bullet from the guns of the guards found their mark and when the horse at last fell from a shot the three convicts lay dead in the buggy.

SALE OF LIQUOR

Three Fined for Illegal
Sale in Chelmsford—
Lawrence Man Here

Three men giving their names as Henry Savard, Fred Lafrance and Fred Patterson, were charged with selling liquor in North Chelmsford where ice men and quarrymen have been quite numerous of late. The Chelmsford officers told the circumstances of the offense whereupon Judge Enright imposed a fine of $50 each.

The defendants were notified that a repetition of the offense would bring a jail sentence.

In police court today Manuel Gonzales De Silva pleaded guilty to the larceny of $25 from a fellow countryman.
The complainant was refunded his money before court opened and the defendant was discharged upon the payment of costs. De Silva was apprehended by the Lawrence police and Inspector Walsh brought him to Lowell last night.

Horace J. Barrett appeared for his third time within a year for drunkenness and Judge Enright allowed him
to depart after placing him on probation to pay a fine of $15. John Mc-Carthy and John Olson were both fined $5 for overindulgence in intoxicants
and placed on probation to pay it.

Etta Maguire pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was sent to the women's reformatory at Sherborn. The case of Margaret V. Sullivan was again
continued.

TALKS ON ROAD BUILDING

Before Community Council Board of Trade by State Road Superintendent of New Hampshire

Highway surveys, selection and many others interested in road building assembled in the board of trade rooms in the Central block last evening to hear S. Percy Hooker, state road superintendent in New Hampshire, give a practical discussion of gravel roads and of road construction and maintenance problems. The meeting was held under the auspices of the community council of the board of trade and the city of Lowell was well represented.

Mr. Hooker's talk was very interesting and instructive and he outlined his experience in building roads throughout the state of New Hampshire. He showed that many of the best roads do not cost as much as the best type of state and municipal roads.

He stated that the object of all road construction should be to obtain a satisfactory road for the traffic it received and then maintain it every day in the year. The speaker favored gravel roads except when the traffic is extra heavy and stated that cities should build perfect roads for heavy traffic no matter what the cost might be. The cost of maintenance would be too heavy unless the road was properly built in the first place.

The three essentials in road building are drainage, grade and alignment. He spoke at some length on the question of drainage and said it would be just as well to leave the water in the middle of the road as to divert it only to the ditch beside the road. In the matter of grades, he argued that it is a mistake to attempt to make long, steady grades instead of allowing short portions of steeper grade to intervene between the stretches of lesser grade. In alignment he urged that bad curves be reduced.

Mr. Hooker emphasized his point by declaring that it is necessary to spend as much money on the three essentials on a cheap road as for one on which a surface costing $14,000 a mile was to be placed. The essentials remained the same for all roads whether macadam, gravel or dirt and without careful attention to these essentials any road would not serve its purpose long. A gravel road he described as the ideal automobile highway. He said it is the best to ride over and if the proper materials are used and the road is carefully maintained it will continue to improve rather than deteriorate. It is the method of maintenance that makes it possible to have the cheaper roads and not until a proper system of patrolling the roads is established can the cheaper roads be entirely satisfactory. To patrol a road he would have each town employ men to take 12 mile sections and have each man use a horse cart, material, compass, gauge and industry to keep his 12 miles in shape eight months in the year. He did not favor bituminous treatment of gravel roads.

After speaking for about a half an hour he called for questions and then there was an open discussion as to how to build and maintain roads. Mr. Hooker proved to be very well versed on the subject and answered the questions to the satisfaction of the members of the council.

DID CHILD WAKE UP
CROSS OR FEVERISH?

Look, Mother! If Tongue is Coated,
Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath hot, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's list; give a tea-spoonful, and in a few hours all the food waste, mucus and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Counterfeits are being sold here. Don't be fooled!

CHANGES IN LAW

Stanley's Bill Would Void Justice White's
Anti-Trust Ruling

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Representative Augustus O. Stanley of Kentucky has introduced a bill providing for two changes in the jurisprudence of the Sherman law. The first change

1. Judge WHITE—2. Rep. STANLEY.

provides that the law shall state specifically that every attempt at restraint of trade or monopoly "in any degree" is illegal. It is aimed at the supreme court's "rule of reason" theory in the Standard Oil case in which Chief Justice White wrote the decision. The second gives district attorneys power to institute suits on their individual initiative without specific directions from the department of justice. Mr. Stanley offered this bill soon after he had returned from an interview with President Wilson.

THINGS TO EAT

Brookline Woman Gives Talk on Normal Diet
for Healthy Body

At the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon, Mrs. H. L. E. Darling, of Brookline gave an interesting talk on "Normal Diet for a Healthy Body." It was the first in a series of lectures and demonstrations on domestic science.

Mrs. Darling said that if we ate what we might live, our diet would be very simple, and there would be no questions of the high cost of living.

A typical breakfast of the working man who eats that he may live, she described as consisting of corn-meal mush, with sugar and skimmed milk, pork scraps, the fat of which is used on bread and potato instead of butter, and tea or coffee. This, she said, is a good breakfast, so far as food value is concerned. Unfortunately, it lacks acid, which we think we must have and which is good for us; but the person who eats that he may live, does not indulge in grapefruit or oranges.

"We who do not eat in order that we may live," she said, "are over-eating, not in bulk, perhaps, but in richness of food."

Mrs. Darling described the Sunday dinner in many families as consisting of cream of celery soup, roast beef, french onion potatoes, tomato and lettuce salad, macaroni and cheese, chocolate cream and black coffee. All these soups are rich in protein and should therefore not be served with a meat dinner. Then macaroni is almost a meal in itself, and should not be served with roasts. French onion potatoes absorb the rich fat from the meat, and very often to that is added Yorkshire pudding, which is made of eggs, also absorbing in nutriment. The tomato and lettuce salad is good, but we need the acid with that kind of meal; but we commonly add to it a mayonnaise dressing, which is made of nutritive products; and the dessert, chocolate cream, is another nutritive food product. It is no wonder, she said, that we get sleepy after our Sunday dinner.

Another tip given to food providers was that the kind of vegetables that are valuable because they contain the right chemical substances, are not generally known. For instance, spinach contains the largest per cent. of iron of any vegetable. Other vegetables mentioned, that are valuable because of the mineral substances they contain, are especially the dried beans and peas that we make our porridge of, whole wheat, parsnips, cabbage and celery. It is a good rule, she said, not to

SENATOR HIS PRINCIPAL N. H. ATTORNEYS TO CONCORD—BRIEF MUST BE FILED MONDAY

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 20.—Alarmed over the latest activities of the New York state officials, Harry K. Thaw has summoned his principal New Hampshire lawyers to Concord to confer with them in the preparation of the brief which they must file before Monday.

The Thaw case will soon come to Boston, for no matter which side wins in the present habeas corpus proceedings, the case will be appealed to the federal court at Boston.

The brief of the state of New York already has been filed by Jerome's New Hampshire representative. The Thaw lawyers have until Monday to file theirs. With both briefs in the hands of Judge Aldrich, a hearing will probably be held late next week.

Late yesterday afternoon the fire department was summoned to 10 Hall street, to the property of the Tremont & South Co., where a slight blaze had been started by an overheated stove. The tenement was occupied by Carlos Jesus and his family. There was no damage.

MRS. EATON DENIES STORY

REPORTED THAT HER DAUGHTER, DOROTHY, HAD BEEN THROWN ON HER OWN RESOURCES

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Jennie M. Eaton, widow of Rear Admiral Joseph M. Eaton of Annapolis, denied emphatically that her younger daughter, Dorothy Almsworth-Eaton, had been thrown on her own resources.

"If the people are so greatly interested in my daughter they could best show it by returning to me the more than $10,000 which was taken from me by the state of Massachusetts by reason of my recent trial," said Mrs. Eaton yesterday.

Is Art Student

Dorothy Eaton, the 16 year old girl who created so much sympathy during her mother's trial, because of her being an invalid, is in Boston studying art at a local art school. During this period she has made her home with Miss Wiswell, 2 Arborway court, Forest Hills. It was stated recently that the girl had met with difficulty in maintaining herself at her present home and that she was obliged to seek other quarters. While it is true that she is going to change her location Mrs. Eaton denies that it is due to any trouble between the girl and Miss Wiswell or to her withdrawing her aid from the girl.

MUNSEY
FOR FEBRUARY
Some Magazine

For October, 1900, we got out a particularly good number of The Munsey. I said so on the cover—a plain, matter-of-fact, signed statement that it was the best number we had ever issued.

Such an innovation, such a shocking disregard of conventionality, was intolerable in the eyes of the newspaper paragraphers. I bore up tolerably well under the criticism, however, and the magazine itself struggled along with its increased sale of over a hundred thousand copies on that number alone.

Now we have in the February Munsey another "best number we have ever issued." But this best

number makes the other one look small and indifferent. That number had 160 pages; this one has 234 pages. That number cost to go to press $5000; this one cost $20,000. That number contained short instalments of two serial stories; this one contains, in the place of these serials, a full-length $1.50 book novel, published complete in one issue. That number had some good articles; this one has a whaling lot of them. Here they are:

6 Short Stories : 17 Poems : 100 Illustrations

And a rattling good novel by FRANK L. PACKARD, entitled

The Miracle Man

In book form this novel will cost you $1.50; in the February Munsey it will cost you 15 cents. And it is published in The Munsey first. The publication of a complete book-length $1.50 novel in each issue of The Munsey is its great new distinguishing feature. No other standard, illustrated magazine does this; no other has ever attempted it.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP ABROAD

The pertinent question of public ownership or nationalization of railroads is not confined to America for in Great Britain, which is the only other important country besides America where the railroads are not wholly or in part nationalized, the question of the relations between the railroads and the state is pushing its way to the forefront of popular discussion. A few weeks ago the British government appointed a royal commission to enquire into the subject and though there is no probability of an immediate change, the many railroad troubles such as we are familiar with here in the case of the New Haven and other railroads that have not into the bad graces of the Interstate Commerce commission, will ultimately result in some important change if not in government ownership. In Great Britain, as here, corporate management of the railroads is in vogue, and the alternative of public ownership and control is being debated with eagerness and deliberation.

As an example of a country where nationalization of railroads may be said to be typical, Belgium stands at the top of the list. There the railroads are owned and controlled by the state and as the country is geographically suited to railroad development, being flat and compact, and otherwise favorable to railroad enterprise, a study of conditions there is interesting. An exhaustive investigation of the Belgian state roads a year ago shows that though government ownership of railroads has its obvious advantages, it has shown important enough to make the merits of the system seem inadequate. According to the technical journal "Concerning Municipal Ownership," the investigation of the railroads of Belgium showed that state management has brought "recessive centralization and red tape," an abnormally large and ill-disciplined staff, whose salaries amounted for 65 per cent. of the total expenditure, and a lack both of initiative and responsibility among the heads of the various departments.

In railway stock, train service, station equipment and the study of the convenience of travellers and traders, the Belgian railroad system is far behind England and America, due mainly to the absence of all competition. Rates are fixed, as they are in all cases of government ownership, by the arbitrary will of some administrative department or commission, with little or no discussion of the matter with traders and business people generally. They are usually uniform, unlike the rates in this country which are elastic and flexible and adaptable to the needs of different sections and varying conditions. It is generally admitted that railroad rates cannot be fixed on a strictly mathematical basis as tariff schedules are subject to change and must be arranged with many different needs in mind.

In two other important considerations also, says the journal above mentioned, coming from the foreign investigator, the Belgian system is inferior to the private system of England and America. These are efficiency in transportation and compensation for lost, damaged or delayed goods. The public of Belgium is not provided with such rapid and dependable treatment as the public here, and many of the state-managed railroads refuse to admit any responsibility whatever for delayed merchandise.

The great argument for government ownership of railroads, apart from the important considerations of labor and rates is that such a system would turn much of the profits made under private ownership, back to the public. While this is true in fact it has been found that in Belgium and in Germany the government profits are not large and are gained mostly by sacrificing efficiency. There is also the danger of political manipulation which would subvert the public and waste for promotion and for the promotion of the public. The railroads have had considerable influence in the past in shaping national and state policies, directly and indirectly, but there is the danger that under government ownership they would be available for political effect with resultant loss of efficiency and hindrance to economic progress. There are evils in the present American system in abundance, but there are many reasons why the public should pause and act slowly before advocating government ownership.

MAIL FRAUDS

Of all the forms of rampant robbery that have been permitted to flourish for years with little attempt to suppress them, the mail frauds that bleed their victims dry are the most insidious and the most persistent. Realizing that "a fool and his money are soon parted" and that there are a great many of this particular type of foul, clever crooks, think out various schemes to defraud which catch the eye of the unwary and get them interested in their cost. The end part of the matter is that often the method of financial fraud preys on the feelings of those whose ambition or desire for advancement is the motive that impels them to trust distant manipulators of dishonest schemes.

Besides the fraudulent lure of false investments of which all people are more or less familiar, there are many other more insidious schemes that do their mischief under the guise of sincerity. While men have the craving to make a million out of an investment of twenty dollars we will have the "get rich quick" type of fraud. But what of the educational frauds? Who has not read glowing advertisements that promise wonderful artistic proficiency in ten lessons—all for $5.00. Then there are the dramatic lessons, and other fake schools that cast suspicion even upon the genuine; the literary syndicates that will teach one to become a short story writer and then place his output with leading publications at great profit, the "mail order" promises, the nations for government positions, and the thousand and one other things that bring financial gain to the mill of the mail fraud with confidence and trust are abused.

Again there are the fake cures for cancer, tuberculosis, and all the diseases that still baffle the great leaders of medicine. There are the beautifiers that will make a ducking into a swan; there are schemes to grow hair on bald heads and to change the stature and improve the complexion. There is no variety of alteration and repair of a human being physically and mentally which some "benefactor" of the race is not willing to let suffering humanity have for almost nothing. No fabrication would be complete without the drink cure by which by putting a little powder in a cup of coffee and giving it to her inebriated husband, a woman will ever after enjoy domestic felicity.

Not all of the schemes along these lines are fraudulent but a great many of them are. Depending on the lure of distance and knowing that hills are green far away the promoters of such a profitable trade on the ignorant and unsuspecting. And yet in the cities of the victims are reputable institutions and honest individuals striving to meet the need that the false advertiser depends on for profit. Those who may be tempted then to fall victim should consult a local authority who may be able to throw light on the subject or else notify the proper authorities so that the real status of the advertiser may be discovered. It would be well for legitimate business of all description were the mail shark put out of commission and honest men everywhere will be glad that the activity of the postoffice department is bringing many of them to justice.

MUNICIPAL LODGING HOUSES

If anything is wrong anywhere there is a certain type of individual who at once considers the advisability of making a law about it. Unfortunately this species of perpetual reformer is represented quite often in the legislature. It is not surprising, therefore, that one of the measures to be introduced soon at the state house is a proposition to give Boston municipal lodging-houses. It will be remembered that a little while ago there was a terrible fire in the Arcade hotel of that city and several unfortunate lost their lives. Probably the man behind the bill for municipal lodging-houses believes that such an institution would at once regulate the conditions in Boston lodging-houses, but where such municipal experiment has been tried the effect is about the same as in unregulated Boston. There are laws enough now governing safety and sanitation in the lodging-houses of Boston and Lowell and there will be beneficial results if they are enforced. If we must have municipal lodging-houses why not have municipal honesty?

SAFE APPROACH NEEDED

Whatever may be said of the scenic value of the new river road it must be apparent that its advantages to this city would be nullified by an approach that would have elements of danger. The elevated and steep street that now meets the river boulevard cannot be considered desirable because in view of the immense traffic which is sure to be drawn to the new thoroughfare, there would be constant inconvenience if not something more serious. What is needed is a new stretch of road from Indian Orchard which would bring the approach along by the river bank round a gentle curve. Whether viewed from the practical or artistic standpoint a new road there is needed so that Lowell may not suffer in comparison with Lawrence where the river road will reach the city by a route which has none of the elements that would make the use of First street here highly dangerous and undesirable.

block as the result of a lighted cigar or cigarette stub having been thrown into a barrel of rubbish, is only one of many such, and there is little hope that it will be the last. In this respect there is most reprehensible carelessness and it seems to be a matter that laws or regulations do not reach. With regard to these dangerous lighted stubs the greatest carelessness prevails, and they are thrown round not only in the vicinity of the home but even in the environs of crowded dance halls and other places where large numbers are congregated. The most tragic stories of large conflagrations in New York and elsewhere have been laid to the discarded cigarette or cigar stub, and reminded of such a state of affairs by the local fire we can only regret the tendency of men to be thoughtless and wonder when they will wake up to the danger of their criminal carelessness.

PEACE FOR MEXICO

After all the doleful predictions which have made the outlook on the Mexican question look dismal for many weeks past it is refreshing to find one who, apparently with good foundation, predicts peace and that speedily. Professor Wells of Clark college, Worcester, who returned from a visit to Mexico two or three days ago, says that the bulk of the people there are with the constitutionalists under Carranza and Villa and that peace is in sight. It is to be hoped that this is the professor's conviction as well as his wish; to prove that it is based on good authority he tells of his personal contact with the constitutionalist leaders whom he upholds. He also gives the hopeful message that constructive policies will follow the success of those whom Huerta calls "rebels."

HOODLUM EVIL GROWING

Commissioner O'Meara of Boston is no sentimentalist and when he warns the public against the growing evil of hoodlumism, it is time to sit up and take notice, for he knows whereof he speaks, and he speaks only when occasion requires it. Breaking and entering among juveniles, according to him,

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

Women Have Been Telling Women for forty years how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast. If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women, why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It is made from roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics.

have increased over 50 per cent. of late, and two-thirds of the boys and young men who lounge around the Boston streets are tainted with roidism. This, Mr. O'Meara blames on the juvenile laws which have coddled the juvenile delinquent and made a new generation of youthful law breakers. The cure he suggests is more stringent laws governing the punishment of juvenile offenders and the breaking up of the gang spirit from which all cities suffer as well as Boston—if not quite as much, comparatively.

Seen and Heard

The superintendent of parks says he will be very careful in future relative to the flooding of the skating rink at Shepley park. The flooding of the rink yesterday made trouble in Belvidere. The fact of the matter is that Lowell's water supply is not what it used to be and, besides, the daily consumption is very heavy at this particular time because of the cold weather. The daily consumption for the last two weeks or so has been more than 8,000,000 gallons and because of the fact that the wells at the boulevard do not yield as generously as of yore it doesn't require much over exertion to roll the water. Last Tuesday night there were quite a number of fires and considerable water was used. Wednesday morning, in a number of places throughout the city, the water was not fit for domestic purposes. The boulevard supply is being maintained at the present time by the Cook wells and but for the Cook well supply Lowell would be in a bad way at the present time. The state board of health has said that a steady pull on the Cook wells through lead pipes was dangerous because of the action of the water on the pipes. The water contains a carbonic acid gas that performs peculiarly and dangerously lead pipes causing, in the end, lead poisoning. The chemists have been working on the Cook well water and are satisfied that the carbonic acid gas can be eliminated by aeration and this is hailed as very good news in view of the crippled condition of the boulevard supply. The boulevard wells have been overworked and they need a rest. Commissioner Carmichael hopes to be able to locate another bell of wells along Hallett's brook, in the vicinity of the Cook wells, and if they turn out as good as the present wells, known as the Cook wells, the yield will be sufficiently great to admit of closing the boulevard wells for months at a time.

In his annual report, John W. Kernan, superintendent of parks, refers to the mortal gun secured by Congressman Rogers, as follows:

A thirteen ton mortar gun has been received from the navy department at Washington, through the intercession of Congressman John Jacob Rogers. The mortar is certainly a rare relic, and the congressman is to be thanked for his efforts. As it was received late in the fall it rests on a temporary location on the North common. The municipal council having voted that it should be placed on this common, a permanent location will be decided on, in the spring. I recommend a concrete base with a slab of Rockport granite one foot in thickness, having the sides rough, as a suitable foundation for the gun. The estimated cost of same will be approximately $300.

If any proprietor of a livery stable had so many horses that he could not shelter them on these winter nights he would be considered a poor business man, in addition to being liable to rest prosecution, the horses of the M. S. C. L. Locomotives are the horses of a railroad. While they have no feelings and therefore do not need the protection of any society for the prevention of cruelty to railroad locomotives, nevertheless, their anatomies suffer from the cold to such an extent that they are rendered useless. As a pure business proposition the liveryman and the railroad are in the same position.

The New Haven road herds its iron horses in a pasture in South Boston. It was so cold two of the nights this week that even the more favored steeds, which were allowed stable in the roundhouses, were frosted. The poor nags out in the open, in many cases, became solid as rocks.

Of course the road needs to be economical and therefore is not feeling humane toward liveryman's locomotives; but if you want a horse, of iron or flesh, to do good work you must take good care of it.

It is not using the poor locomotives right!—Boston Globe.

There are signs of renewed strength in the egg market. This means that there will be evidences of weakness in a good many breakfast tables. Eggs are selling again. There can be little doubt about it. The hen lays at certain times of the year, provided she is not too cold. If she is too cold, she does not attend to the duties of her industry. Eggs dropped a bit in December, because it was warm enough, during that month, to give the hens some encouragement, but that is not the case just now. The cold of recent times has retarded the production in most places to something very close to the zero mark. Those who have talked much about the egg trust and have urged that legislatures, both national and state investigate this supposed anti-Sherman law conspiracy are invited to ponder upon the hen and the cold. The more they watch the egg market and the thermometer, at the same time, the more will they come to the conclusion that there is a profound connection between the two, and that cold storage is not the only cold factor in the egg situation.—Boston Advertiser.

If you would stop to think before you speak of more medicine, too.
With all with whom I'm mixed, Then I would help and so would you To make a better world.
If you would cheer your neighbor more.
And I encourage him.
If you would think of his door To say his work is fine.
And I would stop to help him when His lips in frosts are curled.
Both you and I'd be helping then To make a better world.

You'll find what you look for, don't look for distress.
If you see but your shadow, remember, That the sun is still shining, but you're in the way.

Don't think of your worries, but think of your work.
The worries will vanish; the work will be done.

BEGUNGS
Fall River Globe: This eugenics marriage law in Wisconsin is having a paralyzing effect on the matrimonial industry of that state. The city of Milwaukee for the first time in the year after it went into operation is any criterion to judge by. During that period there were but five marriages. Increases in eugenics really increased. 25 under the old law. That would indicate that it is not likely to score a success either from a sociological or a moral viewpoint.

POTATO PRICES
Boston Herald: Though the potato supply is normal and the tariff of 25 cents a bushel had been removed, the price is 15 to 20 cents a bushel higher than in recent years, and the government accuses the growers of holding back the crop to bring about this end. Yet these sons of the soil have shouted the loudest and loudest against combinations in restraint of trade.

RESTRAINT OF TRADE
Fall River Herald: Work of destroying the Sherman anti-trust law has begun in congress. The president has given assurance that the law itself is satisfactory and adequate to meet the situation. The law is being used to clear up the debatable ground around it. The supreme court's "rule of reason" decision as applied to the restraint of trade feature of the Sherman law may fairly be termed debatable ground. What may appear reasonable to one man or one judge may appear unreasonable to another. To remove this element of uncertainty Representative Stanley of Kentucky has introduced an amendment to the Sherman law which would make file-

SOUTH AFRICAN TROUBLE

Portland Express: This ugly row in South Africa is one of those cancerous sores which human society develops from time to time, without apparent specific cause. The South African strikers are fighting for no definite improvements like shorter hours and longer wages—or not primarily for these things. The trouble represents the conflict of two systems, two attitudes of mind. It is the philosophy of kick seized with a fit. It is a fight for the upper hand, between those who, by energy and enterprise, happen to possess the upper hand, and those whom circumstances has hitherto denied the upper hand.

to enter into effect a few months later. The former system consisted of parties on the same line and the privilege of calling Tewksbury members only, but the commission thought this system inefficient and the entire system was replaced by the following:

Tewksbury telephones are now under the Lowell index in the directory and the lines connect to two and four parties and private lines. A special charge is not made for Lowell calls, but has been done away with and the subscriber is entitled to as many calls as he desires, that is on any lines, without an extra charge.

Chicago was welcomed by all residents and now that the system has been working for several months, the city is satisfied with the results and is all unanimous in saying, "Let it return to the old system on the next election." The charge per month is less than the old system, but the government is worth more money than it cost to change. The city is receiving congratulations from all parts of the town.

MAYOR OF QUINCY ACTS

Makes Clean Sweep, Leaving Only City Clerk at City Hall—Has Kept His Ante Election Promise

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Mayor Miller of Quincy announced his official family to the city council at an adjourned meeting of that body last evening, and with but one exception—that of city clerk—there will be new heads of the various municipal departments after Monday, Feb. 2. The mayor is evidently a man of his word. He promised such a change before election so that it did not come unexpected, although with many mayors campaign promises are soon forgotten.

The "sweep" is in keeping with his ante-election promise that he would, if elected, "clean up the city hall," and he informed a reporter that every appointee has given assurance of acceptance and of entering promptly on the discharge of his duties.

The axe falls not only on the highest salaried official—commissioner of public works, receiving $2400—but it has also heard all along the line, many of the positions of honor and no salary being included. A few of the minor officers, which have recently been brought under the civil service, have been left untouched, as well as that of city engineer with salary of $1800, for the present, at least.

"It is simply a matter of courtesy," added Mayor Miller, "that I send the list of my appointments to the city council, for it has nothing to do with their confirmation."

List of Appointees
The following is the list: City treasurer, John Curtis; solicitor, Walter S. Plunkham; clerk, Emory L. Crane; public works commissioner, Moses Brown; collector, John J. O'Hara; overseer of the poor, Perry Green; engineer of the fire department, Faxon E. Billings; city physician, Dr. Fred A. Bartlett; chairman of the board of assessors, Gustave B. Bates; inspector of buildings, T. C. Merrill; inspector of milk, Daniel Schouler, Jr.; inspector of animals, Francis Aberlee, Jr.; dock and waterfront commissioner, Frank P. Sander; inspector of plumbing, Jeremiah J. Kenney; inspector of meats and provisions, James F. Allen; park commissioner, Ira M. Whittemore; Walter Deacon and H. E. Chapman; managers of public burial places, Albert W. Fay, Thomas Bishop, Joseph Vogel, John Evans, Howard Rogers and John Q. Cudworth; trustees of public library, Charles A. Safford, Henry McGrath, George A. Sidelinger, Albert N. Murray, George Aberlee and Harry W. Field.

The new treasurer, Mr. Curtis, and the collector, Mr. O'Hara, held the same offices for four years under Mayor Shea. City Solicitor-to-be Plunkham has been president of the council, and the future chief of the fire department, Faxon E. Billings, is acting captain of the combination company at Atlantic and a veteran fire fighter.

The next public works commissioner, Moses L. Brown, has been service with the Massachusetts highway commissioner. For Chief Assessor Bates this will be his first public position.

THE CENSORING OF PLAYS

Ex-Alderman Cummings Says Charter Places This Duty in Ald. Donnelly's Hands

"What is all this talk about the mayor's private secretary censoring plays, vaudeville and moving pictures? What has the mayor or his private secretary got to do about it?" said ex-commissioner Cummings this morning. "They haven't anything to do about it," he continued, "because the theatres or playhouses do not come under their jurisdiction. They are not included in the mayor's department and if a show was off color it wouldn't be up to the mayor or his private secretary.

"The theatres come under the department of public property and licenses which includes the following sub-departments, and all boards and offices connected therewith, to wit: buildings, parks, public grounds, cemeteries, electrical, weights and measures and license commission. So you can plainly see that this matter is up to Commissioner Donnelly and not to the mayor. I had applications for the position last year and the year before, but did not consider them very seriously. I visited the theatres myself several times for that purpose and ordered several changes, too."

This statement came in the nature of a surprise to the mayor's secretary who had been denouncing all the dramatic criticism he could find and even auditing the Anthony Comstock prohibited list in order that he might get fully equipped in the art of dramatic and theatrical criticism.

Mr. Cummings did the work during his term of service without any brass bands or private secretaries.

BANKERS MEET
CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Bankers from several neighboring states were prepared today to thrash out differences regarding the size of the federal reserve bank district of which Chicago may be the center when the second day's hearing was begun before William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury and David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture, composing the organization committee.

Feel Out of Sorts?

IT'S A GOOD IDEA TO LOOK FOR THE CAUSE!

One common, but often unsuspected cause is coffee-drinking. Yet some persons seem able to get along with coffee—at least for a time. But when head-achy, bilious days come; breakfast or some other meal doesn't taste good; and the days' work goes wrong. (Ever feel that way?)—then it's time to find out for sure if coffee is causing the trouble in your case.

There's a subtle, poisonous drug, "caffeine," in coffee that interferes with the normal functions of body, brain and nerves, and has a lot to do with one's comfort and progress.

Suppose for a test you try the simple expedient of quitting coffee and using well-made

—a pure food-drink made of choice wheat. It has a delightful Java-like flavor, but is absolutely free from caffeine or any other drug.

After ten days or two weeks you will be able to decide whether to go back to coffee troubles, or stick to Postum and peace and comfort.

Postum comes in two forms.

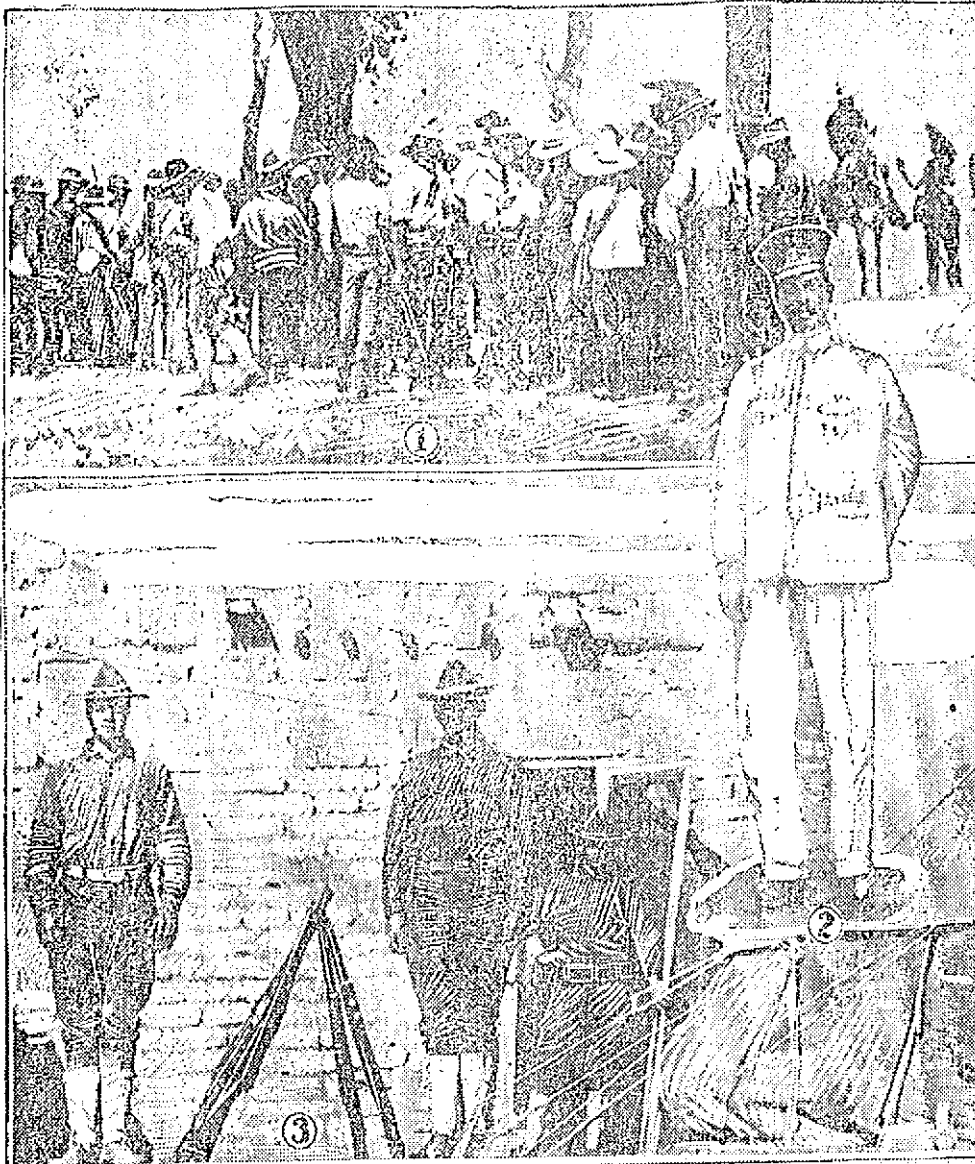

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water and adding cream and sugar to taste.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds.

MEXICAN REFUGEES SAFE ON AMERICAN SOIL AND GENERAL MENACED BY DEATH THREATS

1. REFUGEES ON ARRIVAL ON AMERICAN SOIL. 2. Gen. MERCADO. 3. U.S. SOLDIERS GUARDING REFUGEES.

PRISIDIO, Tex., Jan. 20.—The removal from here of the large body of Mexican refugees was an unusual spectacle, and the destitute men and women suffered severe hardships from hunger and cold. None of those in the unique caravan which, with its disarmed Mexican soldiers, women, children, horses, burros and dogs, struggled for miles along the road, was more visibly affected on coming within sight of Marfa than General S. Mercado, the commander who ordered the evacuation of Ojinaga in face of the rebels' fire. Riding on a horse, his uniform covered with dust, he was confessedly humiliated not only at the defeat of his army and the necessity for flight to foreign soil, but also because of a report from Mexico City that he would be court-martialed and executed should he return to his native country.

Both President Huerta and General Villa, the rebel chieftain, have threatened him with death. Huerta is determined to go to Chihuahua at the head of a force of federals and endeavor to rout the army of General Villa. He is willing to have Cabinet Minister Madero named acting president. His advisers have told him that his departure from the capital would indicate compliance with the wishes of President Wilson that he abdicate.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH
LAWRENCE, Jan. 20.—Withing on the floor with her clothes and body a mass of flames, Mrs. Mary A. Burekel, widow of Henry Burekel and mother of ex-representative Alfred J. Burekel, was found at her home early Monday morning. She died a few hours later after being removed to the Lawrence General Hospital. Just how her clothing caught fire could not be ascertained, but it is felt that she was putting wood or coal on a fire in the kitchen stove when her apron ignited.

SPECIAL TENEMENT INSPECTORS
LAWRENCE, Jan. 20.—Health Inspectors John Fleming and James P. Tierney were appointed and confirmed special police officers at the regular meeting of the city government Monday morning. They will begin tonight on their duties of inspecting tenements in the thickly settled districts and in order to be vested with full authority they were made special police officers at the request of Alderman Todd. They will be uniformed.

Pain From Dental Operations In Unknown When in the ANALGESIC STAGE

Dr. Gagnon's "Nap-a-Mint," the great pain destroyer, like his porcelain dentistry, is far ahead of other methods.

ANALGESIA IS PERFECTLY HARMLESS

Persons with neurasthenic tendencies, heart trouble, kidney disease or Bright's disease may use it without ill effect.

When in the state of analgesia the patient acquires a restful mood, knows absolutely no pain and can undergo the most severe dental operation with a contentment akin to pleasure. In fact, ANALGESIA IS A DELIGHTFUL STAGE pressing on the patient a happy, care-free mood to which there is no ill effect during the condition or afterward.

Where a patient's physical condition forbids the use of anesthetic, the administration of "NAP-A-MINT" to the extent of ANALGESIA is not only perfectly harmless but positively efficient. With people of neurasthenic tendencies, heart disease, kidney trouble or Bright's disease, where the administration of GAS, CHLORFORM or ETHER MIGHT RESULT MOST SERIOUSLY, the state of ANALGESIA, induced by "NAP-A-MINT" IS ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS. In fact, the oxygen utilized in this wonderful pain destroyer is the greatest known restorative to weakened physical condition and its use has frequently been the cause of prolonging life for days in cases of mortal illness.

In keeping with the modern methods that have always been employed by the porcelain dentist of this city, Dr. Gagnon has introduced in connection with his up-to-date dental offices the use of "NAP-A-MINT." Henceforth at these offices, Nos. 109 Merrimack St. and 466 Merrimack St., teeth will be extracted, nerves killed, fillings, crowns and bridgework inserted and all sorts of surgical operations performed without the slightest pain or discomfort while the patient is in the harmless and really delightful stage of ANALGESIA.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Operations on the Delaware & Hudson railroad had reached practically normal proportions today in striking contrast to its paralyzed condition during the 16 hour strike yesterday. The strike came to an end last night when officials of the company at the suggestion of G. W. Hanger of the federal board of mediation and conciliation acceded to the demands of the employees. By the terms of agreement two employees who had been discharged for alleged violation of the company rules will be reinstated.

SALISBURY BEACH AGAIN

Bill to Have Constitution Amended in Order to Allow Land to be Seized for Public Use

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Representative Abbott of Haverhill files the petition of Arthur Harrington of Boston, counsel for the cottage owners at Salisbury beach last year for legislation to amend the state constitution so as to allow public bodies to take land by the right of eminent domain. The intent of this proposed change is to get over the constitutional point that made inoperative the work of the Salisbury Beach Reservation commission last year. The article of amendment proposed by Mr. Harrington is as follows: Article ten of part one of the constitution of the commonwealth is hereby amended by adding thereto the following paragraph: The legislature may take or authorize public bodies to take land by right of eminent domain on payment of just compensation therefor and hold, lease, use or sell the same at such times and for such purposes as it believes to be for the common good.

SIGNS WITH PIRATES
SAN JOSE, Cal., Jan. 20.—Irvine Kauthe, the left handed pitcher who was bought by Pittsburgh from Victoria last season for $1000 today signed a contract with the Pirates.

Supt. Thomas Lees of the Bay State Street Railway company states it would be impossible to change the time of the last cars from Merrimack square in order to accommodate the passengers aboard the late theatre train, which would mean a delay of 15 minutes. He said the residents of Tewksbury, the Oaklands and Belvidere can be accommodated by taking the last electric at Wilmington, which waits for the theatre train. The theatre train arrives at the North station at 12.10 o'clock, while the last cars for all lines of the Bay State St. Railway leave Merrimack square at 12.30 a. m.

two strangers who were making a vigorous run away with their loot. The weight of the birds proved too much and after running a few hundred yards they were forced to drop their bundles and run out of reach of the constable and his volunteers who were gaffing on them every minute. Despite the fact that shot after shot was fired into the air by the constable, the two men kept on, and when they separated near Bridge street they left the constable and his volunteers as to which way they had gone.

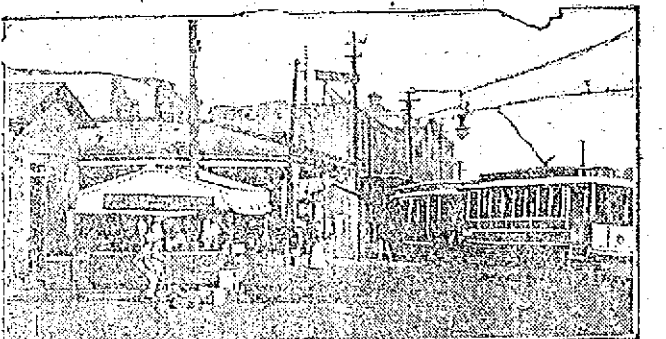

Some of the farmers believe they got near enough to the offenders to get a description of them as they fled, stating that they were both recognized as young men known in the locality.

NARROW ESCAPE

Mason Slipped From Story Staging and Dangled in Mid Air

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Eight stories above the street level, Charles Anderson of Morrison avenue, West Somerville, a mason working on the new city hall annex, hung by his hands on a staging rope for over a minute yesterday afternoon before he was rescued from what seemed certain death.

Unmoved by the shouts of his fellow workmen and many people who watched from the street below, he clung to the rope until he could again step out onto the staging upon which he was standing a short while before, after alighting on the staging in safety, he calmly climbed into a window. Anderson and John Guiliano of Revere were standing on the staging, pulling it up the side of the building with ropes, when the accident occurred. Guiliano pulled his rope too fast, it is claimed, with the result that the staging became unbalanced. It partly tipped over, but Anderson caught the rope just as he was sliding off the board. Guiliano, on the other hand, of the staging did not lose his footing, and with the aid of other workmen he succeeded in drawing up the staging under Anderson so that the latter could get firmly upon it.

3 ESCAPE IN DAYLIGHT

Burglars Rip Up Planks in Prison Van on Way to Jail and Drop to Liberty in Street

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Ripping the floor boards from the prison van as it was being driven through Cambridge street, West End, on its way from the Suffolk county courthouse to the Charles street jail, three notorious house breakers, who had been re-arrested for trial, made their escape in broad daylight yesterday afternoon.

The first two made their escape without detection, while the third was seen as he dropped to the street, narrowly escaping being run over by the wheels of the vehicle. He was chased through Blossom street by Patrolman Casey of the Fox street station, but eluded capture by dodging into a narrow alleyway off Anderson street. The men who escaped were Charles Ronan and Ward. Ronan, not guilty to the charges of breaking and entering two houses in the Back Bay and were held in $1200 until Jan. 26 for a hearing. Jones waived examination and was held in $100 for the grand jury, an additional charge of carrying a loaded revolver being made against him.

After court had adjourned George L. Twombly, a court officer in the municipal court, was assigned to take 10 prisoners to the Charles street jail in the regular van. The driver of the van, Cornelius J. Brennan, backed his wagon up to the courtyard door and Court Officer Twombly placed the Ronan, better known as "Raffles," the gentleman burglar, express thief and pickpocket; George A. Ward and William H. Jones, better known as "Casey" Jones, both multi-talents, who were arrested early Sunday morning charged with a series of burglaries in the Back Bay, Dorchester and in Kennebunk and Sanford, Me.

The men had been in the custody of the staff of Chief Inspector John R. McGarr during the entire forenoon, being questioned by the officers and Deputy Sheriff Ernest Jones of Sanford, Me. They were returned to the city prison and shortly after 2 o'clock were arraigned before Judge Ely in the municipal court.

After the van was loaded with the prisoners, McGarr sent out 16 inspectors, all of whom know the three fugitives well, to scour for them. The alarm was sent to every station house in the city and within 20 minutes the entire force was searching for the men. Word was also transmitted to the surrounding police officials in the various towns.

Despite the efforts of the police, the men are still at large.

Investigation revealed that the wooden boards had been ripped up and a hole large enough for a man to drop through had been made. Chief Inspector John R. McGarr sent out 16 inspectors, all of whom know the three fugitives well, to scour for them. The alarm was sent to every station house in the city and within 20 minutes the entire force was searching for the men. Word was also transmitted to the surrounding police officials in the various towns.

Despite the efforts of the police, the men are still at large.

RECEIVER MURRAY OF
TRADERS BANK TALKS

Time for Filing Claims Has Expired But Not All Claims Have
Been Filed — The Work Thus
Delayed

The time allowed depositors of the Traders Nat. bank to file their claims
expires today, according to sec. 5235
of the National bank acts which states
that a notice requesting all persons
which have claims against such an association must be published for 90
days. A notice to this effect was published on October 20, 1913 and the time
allowed terminates today.

The act reads as follows:
"The comptroller shall, upon ap-
pointing a receiver, cause notice to be
given by advertisement in such newspapers as he may direct, for three consecutive months, calling on all persons
who may have claims against such association to present the same and to
make legal proof thereof."

However, it was stated at the bank
this morning that the claims of persons who have found it impossible to
get to the bank during the past 90
days will be allowed providing they
present said claims as soon as possible.

It is estimated that about seventy-
five per cent. of the 17,000 depositors
have already filed their claims. It is believed that a number of the deposi-
tors who presented their pass books at
the bank a short time after it closed
have the impression that their part is
completed but Receiver Murray stated
this forenoon that these persons have
only done the preliminary work and
they must return to the bank and file
proofs as to the amount of their de-
posits.

There is a large clerical force at

work at the bank daily balancing the
accounts and all claims will have to be
in before a dividend is declared.
Therefore the people who have held
back their slips or have not appeared
at the bank a second time are delaying
the work and also the payment of a
dividend. There is considerable work
to be done after all claims are in and
the sooner the clerical work is completed the sooner a dividend will be
paid.

Mr. Murray said this morning:
"There are 17,000 accounts and each
has to be balanced to determine
whether or not there were any errors
in the preliminary work; then we investigate whether the claimant is indebted to the bank and if we find he is not, the claim is allowed. After that
work is done all the claims have to be
listed on a ledger, which is kept by the
receiver and each claim separated and
checked so that receivers' certificates
can be written. After that we can balance the accounts with the cash on
hand and declare a dividend of a
certain per cent."

"We then have to make out a check
to each depositor and send these to Washington to be signed. When they
are returned they are given to the de-
positors and can be cashed immediately."

No estimate as to the amount of the
first dividend can yet be made but Mr.
Murray claims the interests of the
depositors will be carefully looked after and a dividend announced as soon
as possible.

FAVORS GOVERNMENT
REGULATION OF R. R.

Recommends Prohibition of Interlock-
ing Directorates and Law to Give Inter-State Commerce Board Power to
Railroads—Says Private Monopoly is Indefensible and Intolerable—Antag-
onism Between Business and Government Over

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President
Wilson personally laid before a joint
session of congress today the fundamental principles of the democratic
administration's program for dealing
with trusts and "big business." The
president presented the case, he said,
"as it lies in the thought of the country," reiterating "that private mono-
poly is indefensible and intolerable,"
and declaring that conscientious businessmen throughout the nation would
not be satisfied until practices now
decried by public opinion as restraints of trade and commerce were
corrected.

"We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of
that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

Besides suggesting the scope of legislation the president made a personal
appeal for an atmosphere of friendliness and cooperation in congress while
handling the problem.

"The antagonism," he said, "between
business and government is over. We
are now about to give expression to
the best judgment of America, to what
we know to be the business conscience

and honor of the land. The government
and business men are ready to meet
each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with
both public opinion and the law."

Chief Points for Legislation

The chief points which the president
singled out as a basis for legislation
were:

1.—Effectual prohibition of the inter-
locking of directorates of great corporations—banks, railroads, industrial,
commercial and public service bodies.

2.—A law to confer upon the inter-
state commerce commission the power
to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development and improved transportation
facilities.

3.—Definition of "the many hurtful
restraints of trade" by explicit legislation supplementary to the Sherman
law.

4.—The creation of a commission to
aid the courts and to act as a clear-
ing house of information in helping
business to conform with the law.

5.—Provision of penalties and pun-
ishments to fall upon individuals responsible for unlawful business practices.

6.—Prohibition of holding companies
and a suggestion that the voting power
of individuals holding shares in numerous corporations might be restricted.

7.—Giving to private individuals the
right to found suits for redress on facts and judgments proven in government suits, and providing that statute of limitations should run only from
the date of conclusion of the government's action.

Pres. Wilson's Message

The president was ushered into the
crowded chamber at 12:29 o'clock
while the audience rose and gave him
prolonged applause and cheers.

The president took his place at the
clerk's desk and began reading
rapt attention.

The president spoke as follows:
"Gentlemen of the Congress:

"In my report on the state of the Union which I had the privilege of
reading to you on the 2nd of December last, I ventured to reserve for discussion at a later date the subject of
additional legislation regarding the
very difficult and intricate matter of

MR. MORSE PLANS
A BIG PAVING JOB

Street From Davis Square to
Corbett Street—City Treasurer
Collects Over $50,000

Commissioner Morse is making arrangements to pave Gorham street
from Davis Square to Corbett st. and
this will represent the biggest paving
job for 1914. Mr. Morse expects to have
old blocks enough to do the job but he
will not be sure about it until he gets
his estimates from the engineer's office.

The city engineer's office is busy on
the proposition at the present time.
The commissioner would not venture
any estimate of the cost but he allows
it will be some job as the distance is
probably a mile, strong. He says the
cut blocks will cost about $2.75 a yard,
considerably cheaper than new
blocks. In recutting the blocks the three inch block will be made into two
four-inch blocks and Mr. Morse rather
takes the position that the city never
should have sold any of its old blocks.

But the city has sold thousands upon
thousands of old blocks to the street
railway company, the mills and others.
"When I left the street department,"
said Mr. Morse, today, "I had made up
my mind that I wouldn't buy any more
blocks and if the blocks hadn't been
more."

Mr. Morse, at this point, called in Supt. Putnam to find out how many
blocks he had sold when he, Putnam,
was superintendent of streets. Mr.
Putnam would not venture a guess as
to the number of blocks and Clerk
"Little" was called in. And, right here,
"Little" took occasion to remark
that somebody had suggested that
there were too many clerks in the office of the commissioner of streets and
clerks in this office when I left the
department as there are today," he said, and just then Clerk Tuttle undered himself in with the figures.

He found that 213,618, second-hand
paving blocks, had been sold during
the years 1909 and 1910. He took it for granted that they had been sold by the
city during these two years, because
the city was paid for the blocks in 1911 and blocks are seldom paid for
within a year or two of delivery. Some

of the blocks, however, were delivered
in 1911. Blocks delivered in 1909 and 1910 as follows: New England Construction Co., 37,250; Boston & Northern, 33,625; Merrimack mills, 5,000 and
there was a second consignment of 18,
250 to the New England Construction
Co.

Blocks were delivered by the city in 1911 as follows: Bay State street railway, 69,569; Merrimack mills, 19,972.
The city received $27 a thousand for these blocks.

"I will not spend as much on paving
this year as was spent last year," said
Mr. Morse, "and the Gorham street job
will be by far the biggest job of the year. In the proposition to continue the paving in Gorham street,
and it is absolutely necessary to pave
that street, because of its condition, I
will have to take care of Davis square
and I want you to understand that the
square is a pretty big place. There
isn't any street in Lowell where there
is more traffic than in Gorham street
and the paving laid there a few years
ago was imitation paving. It isn't
the real stuff at all. I think there must be between 175,000 or 180,000 old
blocks at the ledge and they will come
pretty near covering the job. I have five block cutters at work at the present time and I will increase the force
if necessary."

Too Many Horses

Mr. Morse was asked relative to the
discharge of an assistant superintendent of streets and other bosses or
men. "There were too many fore-
men here when I came on this time,"
said Mr. Morse, "and there are others
of them who will have to walk the
plank. The present charter doesn't
provide for an assistant superintendent of streets or an assistant superintendent of sewers and those jobs
have been eliminated."

AUTO CRASHED INTO POLE

E. A. McQuade's Touring Car Al-
most Totally Wrecked—Chauf-
feur Had Narrow Escape

The large Oldsmobile touring car of
E. A. McQuade was almost totally

wrecked shortly before one o'clock to-
day when the machine skidded across
the slippery pavements on Church
street just below the Church Street
garage and crashed into one of the
iron poles of the Bay State Street
Railway Co. The car struck the pole
at a point in the rear of the front seat
and the tonneau was completely ripped off.

Edwin Knight, one of Mr. McQuade's
chauffeurs, was the only occupant of
the car at the time of the accident and
he was very fortunate indeed to escape
injury. If the pole had been located
two feet farther in front of the machine Knight would have been killed
in all probability.

Although protected with chained
wheels, the huge auto refused to heed
the steering wheel when the driver
crossed the car tracks on Church
street and then attempted to straight-
en out his car. The front wheels were
directed away from the point of contact enough, however, so that the car
struck side on instead of head on.

The damage to the machine cannot
be definitely estimated at present but
it is certain to be in the neighborhood
of $1000. The two front wheels and
the engine are practically all that are left intact. The rear springs are broken and wrenched so badly that it is doubtful if they can ever be utilized
again. The fixtures and furnishings of the tonneau are damaged beyond
repair and the gears underneath the
machine are bent and twisted out of
all semblance to mechanical usefulness.

BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE TO F. A. BUTTRICK

Trustees of City Institution for Savings Honor Memory of Late President of Bank

At a meeting of the trustees of the City Institution for Savings held January 15th, 1914, the following tribute was adopted: Fred Appleton Buttrick, President of this bank for the past seventeen years, was born in Lowell, Jan. 10, 1842 and died January 13, 1914. For forty years he was actively connected with this bank, and for twenty years, was compelled by illness to relinquish that position and Fred A. Buttrick was chosen treasurer pro tem, June 1, 1878. On November 13th of the following year he was elected a corporation and on November 20th the Board of Trustees, after bearing testimony to the marked ability and ability with which his father had discharged the duties of the office, unanimously elected the son treasurer, he at once assumed the duties of the office and thereby became at the age of twenty-eight the youngest Savings Bank Treasurer in the Commonwealth. November 6, 1882, he was chosen a member of the Board of Trustees and on November 2, 1896, he was chosen President to succeed Gov. Greenhalge, deceased. During his tenure of office as President of the bank, he ended his career with a Bank of over ten millions. In 1881 a special committee of Trustees, appointed to consider the matter of salaries, reported, and the Board unanimously adopted the report, that his "management of the institution for the past seven years has been exceptionally conservative, vigorous and intelligent and has been crowned with a success which has done away with doubt and trouble, is nothing short of remarkable." Thirty years later this Board today records its deceased president as a "Banker—conservative, vigorous, intelligent, whose career was crowned with success."

He was the head of a large Savings Bank and the opportunity for tremendous influence in the community. To him go for counsel, advice and assistance, the faithful men and women who have accumulated a little money; those who are successful and hopeful and those who are in ill fortune and despair. As he interests himself in them and seeks to serve them, so determine whether he lives up to the responsibilities of his office. To all those who are faithful to the Bank, Mr. Buttrick showed no "partiality" but was ever courteous and considerate. A man of strong individuality, occupying an office of prominence, he was autocratic, he was always approachable, essentially democratic, the banker of the people, the true friend to his customers. He has passed into memory, but what he did remains. We who have met with him as a Board under a personal loss that no words can express. This meeting, the funeral ceremony and the burial service are the sole opportunities, and Oh, so inadequate, to pay to his memory the tribute his life among us deserves.

GREATEST PERIL

Nation Must Have God Fearing Men or Perish, Says Rev. Dr. Crowther

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—"When the church is a church of the whole community will it serve its real purpose?" This was the declaration of Rev. Dr. J. B. Crowther of New York in an address last night before an efficiency conference of ministers and laymen of the Methodist Episcopal church of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and eastern Connecticut. "The greatest peril to America," said Dr. Crowther continued, "will not come from a foreign foe, but from within, and that foe is the lack of God-fearing men. We need above all things men who say 'I can' and 'I will' not mere social reformers nor industrial quacks, but great, God-fearing men. The nation must have them or perish."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE OWL THEATRE
Did you see "The Air-Ship Fugitives" at the Owl yesterday? The general verdict was that it is one of the most stirring photo-plays ever shown in a picture house in Lowell. The management has many other good features that will be advertised in these columns, and we advise you to keep an eye open for the good things to come.

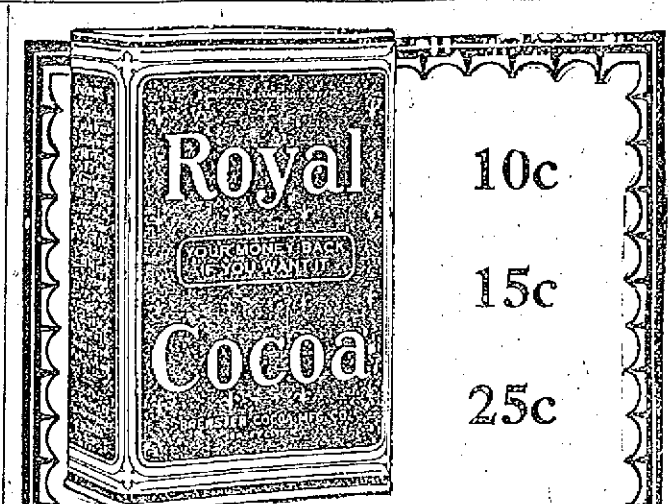

LOVELL OPERA HOUSE
Stepped in the excitement and color of the rugged west as our forefathers, the pioneers and the first law of nature, the clipping was a feature at the Opera House today, carries a tremendous appeal. In the "First Law of Nature," the clipping was a feature at the Opera House today, carries a tremendous appeal. In the "First Law of Nature," the clipping was a feature at the Opera House today, carries a tremendous appeal.

"DAMAGED GOODS"
When "Damaged Goods" was first produced in this country the mingled emotion of pity and sympathy was a salacious haunting of vice upon the stage. Nothing could be further from the truth. As a distinguished critic (Dr. Abram Simon, of Washington) has said, "It is no message for the morbid, the timid, the meretricious, the shallow, the sensationalist. With something of the sternness and earnestness of the old moralists, with most of the painful realism of the modern playwright, with all of the sexual sincerity of Ibsen's 'Ghosts,' it is a reformer's trumpet-blast to the present to give the future a square deal. The play is a study in the sexual unit, is a crime against society. Why should vice and virtue wed; or sickness and health beget offspring?"

KEITH'S THEATRE

The excellent bill at the B. F. Keith theatre this week includes the grave and gay in delightful proportion with just a little shade more of the gay. When one gets serious over some of the stronger emotional scenes, along comes some laugh-provoker who drives away serious thought and makes everybody happy.

The biggest laugh of all comes in the presentation of "Surgeon Louder, U. S. A., a ridiculous military travesty that is put up for laughing purposes only and touches the funny bone every time. The scene is an army post in the far west where a private who has been stepped upon by a horse, a surgeon who hears but little and that little in a charming little nurse, and things charmingly mixed up that the audience laughs for 20 minutes continuously. Each of the principals is a fun-maker of marked ability and when three fun-makers are added together the result is a comedy that will not easily be forgotten. One who sees it will not easily forget the touching scene where the wounded soldier fires the sunset gun. The brave "Private Casey" is played by Roger Imhoff, the deaf surgeon by Roger Imhoff, the deaf surgeon by Roger Imhoff, the deaf surgeon by Roger Imhoff.

which are acted intelligently and convincingly by Mr. Mayne. There are touches of comedy in abundance, but the final confession is a piece of strong legitimate acting. The work of Geo. Warnock as the detective chief is unusually fine. One of the quaintest acts seen here for a long time is the last scene, where, formerly a star with Eddie Foye in "Over the River." Possessing a pleasing voice and a superb command of temperament, she gave a series of songs with a dressing of monologues on the subject of a string. He is funny when he stands and when he walks, but he is funniest when he dances. Let his audience should not feel satisfied he throws in some songs and harmonious solos for good measure. Charles and Anna Glicker are jugglers with a difference, that is to say they are jugglers who juggle something unlike most jugglers. They juggle water-filled articles and do it well. Some of the juggled articles are so heavy that lifting them seems like exertion enough without going through the clever evolutions of the act. Burns and Kelsen are two stylishly dressed entertainers who sing some catchy songs acceptable. Their base ball number is novel and entertaining. Fraxley and Hunt do some acrobatics on air rings that look difficult to perform. They are finely developed and show the result of long training. The Pathe Weekly is a little more interesting than usual as the scenes are varied and show such things as the wreck of a German aeroplane and the environment of the Duke of Cumberland and the Kaiser's daughter.

WHAT YOUR NEIGHBORS SAY OF STOMACH-RITE

Suffered From Infancy
Dear Doctor's Daughter:
I am writing to say that your Stomach-Rite has been used most successfully in my family. My son was afflicted with gastritis from almost his infancy, so badly that in frequent attacks every muscle of the body would stiffen. Several physicians prescribed for him to no avail, but in the use of Stomach-Rite tablets we believe we have found a complete cure, as he has not had an attack for over four months. Sincerely,
GEORGE SWEET,
41 Bowdoin st., Boston, Mass.

Thanking you many times. I am, truly yours,
ALBERT WOOD,

Dear Doctor's Daughter:
I have suffered for years with a distressing stomach cough. Stomach-Rite tablets have cured me of it, and I can heartily recommend them to any one with a stomach trouble. Respectfully,
ANTHONY HINNESSEY,

Cured of Indigestion and Constipation
Dear Doctor's Daughter:
I must tell you how thankful I am to you for helping me. I had indigestion, accompanied by a sour stomach, headache and constipation. I took only two boxes of your Stomach-Rite tablets and feel that I am entirely cured. Yours truly,
MRS. A. J. ELLIOTT,

TALKS ON ROAD BUILDING

Before Community Council Board of Trade by State Road Superintendent of New Hampshire

Highway surveyors, selectmen and many others interested in road building assembled in the board of trade rooms in the Central block last evening to hear S. Percy Hooker, state road superintendent in New Hampshire, give a practical discussion of gravel roads and of road construction and maintenance problems. The meeting was held under the auspices of the community council of the board of trade and the city of Lowell was well represented.

Mr. Hooker's talk was very interesting and instructive and he outlined his experience in building roads throughout the state of New Hampshire. He showed that many of the best roads do not cost as much as the best type of state and macadam roads.

He stated that the object of all road commissions should be to obtain a satisfactory road for the traffic it received and then maintain it every day in the year. The speaker favored gravel roads except when the traffic is extra heavy and stated that cities should build perfect roads for heavy traffic no matter what the cost might be. The cost of maintenance would be too heavy unless the road was properly built in the first place.

The three essentials in road building are drainage, grade and alignment. He spoke at some length on the question of drainage and said it would be just as well to leave the water in the middle of the road as to divert it only to the ditch beside the road. In the matter of grades, he argued that it is a mistake to attempt to make long, steady grades instead of allowing short portions of steeper grade to intervene between the stretches of lesser grade. In alignment he urged that bad curves be reduced.

Mr. Hooker emphasized his point by declaring that it is necessary to spend as much money on the three essentials on a cheap road as for one on which a surface costing $14,000 a mile was to be placed. The essentials remained the same for all roads whether macadam, gravel or dirt and without careful attention to these essentials any road would not serve its purpose long. A gravel road he described as the ideal automobile highway. He said it is the best to ride over and if the proper materials are used and the road is carefully maintained it will continue to improve rather than deteriorate. It is the method of maintenance that makes it possible to have the cheaper roads and not until a proper system of patrolling the roads is established can the cheaper roads be entirely satisfactory. To patrol a road he would have each town employ men to take 12 mile sections and have each man use a horse, cart, material, common sense and industry to keep his 12 miles in shape eight months in the year. He did not favor bituminous treatment of gravel roads.

After speaking for about a half an hour he called for questions and there was an open discussion as to how to build and maintain roads. Mr. Hooker proved to be very well versed on the subject and answered the questions to the satisfaction of the members of the council.

DID CHILD WAKE UP CROSS OR FEVERISH?

Look, Mother! If Tongue is Coated, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a tea-spoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Counterfeits are being sold here. Don't be fooled!

NO REPLY FROM ELLIOT

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Dr. Chas. W. Elliot of Harvard refused yesterday to make any comment on the sermon preached in Boston on Sunday by Cardinal O'Connell attacking the "new" religion. He was found at the Harvard club, and when shown the dispatch read it through. He had nothing to say at present in regard to the criticisms made of the so-called new religion.

CHANGES IN LAW

Stanley's Bill Would Void Justice White's Anti-Trust Ruling

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Representative Augustus O. Stanley of Kentucky has introduced a bill providing for two changes in the phraseology of the Sherman law. The first change

Judge WHITE—R. REP. STANLEY. PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

provides that the law shall state specifically that every attempt at restraint of trade or monopoly "in any degree" is illegal. It is aimed at the supreme court's "rule of reason" theory in the Standard Oil case in which Chief Justice White wrote the decision. The second gives district attorneys power to institute suits on their individual initiative without special directions from the department of justice. Mr. Stanley offered this bill soon after he had returned from an interview with President Wilson.

THINGS TO EAT

Brookline Woman Gives Talk on Normal Diet for Healthy Body

At the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon, Mrs. H. L. B. Darling, of Brookline gave an interesting talk on "Normal Diet for a Healthy Body." It was the first in a series of lectures and demonstrations on domestic science.

Mrs. Darling said that if we ate that we might live, our diet would be very simple, and there would be no questions of the high cost of living.

A typical breakfast of the working man who eats that he may live, she described as consisting of corn-meal mush, with sugar and skimmed milk, pork scraps, the fat of which is used on bread and potato instead of butter, and tea or coffee. This, she said, is a good breakfast, so far as food value is concerned. Unfortunately, it lacks acid, which we think we must have and which is good for us; but the person who eats that he may live, does not indulge in grapefruit or oranges.

Mrs. Darling described the Sunday dinner in many families as consisting of cream of celery soup, roast beef, french potatoes, tomato and lettuce salad, macaroni and cheese, chocolate cream and black coffee. All these, she said, are rich in protein and should therefore not be served with a roast meat dinner. Then macaroni is almost a meal in itself, and should not be served with roasts. French potatoes absorb the rich fat from the meat, and very often to that is added Yorkshire pudding, which is made of eggs, also abounding in nutriment. The tomato and lettuce salad is good. We need the acid with that kind of meal; but we commonly add to it a mayonnaise dressing, which is made of nutritive products; and the dessert, chocolate cream, is another nutritive food product. It is no wonder, she said, that we get sleepy after our Sunday dinner.

Another tip given to food providers was that the kind of vegetables that are valuable because they contain the right chemical substances, are not generally known. For instance: Spinach contains the largest per cent. of iron of any vegetable. Other vegetables mentioned, that are valuable because of the mineral substances they contain, are especially the dried beans and peas that we make our purées of, whole wheat, parsnips, cabbage and celery. It is a good rule, she said, not to serve macaroni and cheese and meat at the same meal and not to serve potato and rice at the same meal. In the latter case there is too much starch.

THAW CALLS LAWYERS

SUMMONED HIS PRINCIPAL N. H. ATTORNEYS TO CONCORD—BRIEF MUST BE FILED MONDAY

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 20.—Alarmed over the latest activities of the New York state officials, Harry K. Thaw has summoned his principal New Hampshire lawyers to Concord to confer with them in the preparation of the brief which they must file before Monday.

The Thaw case will soon come to Boston, for no matter which side wins in the present habeas corpus proceedings, the case will be appealed to the federal court at Boston.

The brief of the state of New York already has been filed by Jerome's New Hampshire representative. The Thaw lawyers have until Monday to file theirs. With both briefs in the hands of Judge Aldrich, a hearing will probably be held late next week.

Late yesterday afternoon the fire department was summoned to 10 Hall street, to the property of the Tremont & Suffolk Co., where a slight blaze had been started by an overheated stove. The tenement was occupied by Carlos Jesus and his family. There was no damage.

MRS. EATON DENIES STORY

REPORTED THAT HER DAUGHTER, DOROTHY, HAD BEEN THROWN ON HER OWN RESOURCES

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Jennie M. Eaton, widow of Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton of Assinippi, denied emphatically that her younger daughter, Dorothy Alsworth-Eaton, had been thrown on her own resources.

"If the people are so greatly interested in my daughter they could best show it by returning to me the more than $10,000 which was taken from me by the state of Massachusetts by reason of my recent trial," said Mrs. Eaton yesterday.

Is Art Student
Dorothy Eaton, the 15 year old girl who created so much sympathy during her mother's trial because of her being an invalid, is in Boston studying art at a local art school. During this period she has made her home with Miss Wiswell, 2 Arborway court, Forest Hill. It was stated recently that the girl had met with difficulty in maintaining herself at her present home and that she was obliged to seek other quarters. While it is true that she is going to change her location Mrs. Eaton denies that it is due to any trouble between the girl and Miss Wiswell or to her withdrawing her aid from the girl.

MUNSEY FOR FEBRUARY
Some Magazine

For October, 1900, we got out a particularly good number of The Munsey. I said so on the cover—a plain, matter-of-fact, signed statement that it was the best number we had ever issued.

Such an innovation, such a shocking disregard of conventionality, was intolerable in the eyes of the newspaper paragraphers. I bore up tolerably well under the criticism; however, and the magazine itself struggled along with its increased sale of over a hundred thousand copies on that number alone.

Now we have in the February Munsey another "best number we have ever issued." But this best number makes the other one look small and indifferent. That number had 160 pages; this one has 234 pages. That number cost to go to press $5000; this one cost $20,000. That number contained short instalments of two serial stories; this one contains, in the place of these serials, a full-length $1.50 book novel, published complete in one issue. That number had some good articles; this one has a whaling lot of them. Here they are:

THE CZAR AND HIS FAMILY	Winthrop Biddle
THE POSTER CAMPAIGN AGAINST ALCOHOL	Michael Callahan
THE SHOP	Frank A. Munsey
A FERVID VISION OF AMERICA	Francis Grierson
CHILDREN IN PAINTINGS	Clayton Hamilton
THE SENSES AND MODERN LIFE	Sir Gilbert Parker
OUR FIFTEEN YEARS' WORK IN THE PHILIPPINES	Dean C. Worcester
THE COLOSSAL GROWTH OF THE SAVINGS-BANK	Isaac F. Marcossou
IMPERISHABLE FICTION	Richard Le Gallienne

6 Short Stories : 17 Poems : 100 Illustrations
And a rattling good novel by FRANK L. PACKARD, entitled
The Miracle Man

In book form this novel will cost you $1.50; in the February Munsey it will cost you 15 cents. And it is published in The Munsey first. The publication of a complete book-length $1.50 novel in each issue of The Munsey is its great new distinguishing feature. No other standard, illustrated magazine does this; no other has ever attempted it.

Athletes and Athletics

Harry Hooper is one ball player who will not be influenced by Federal league talk. Harry is waiting out in California now for his contract to reach him so that he can sign up for the season of 1914 with the Red Sox. His agreement this year is on straight terms and says nothing about his batting average. Up to this time he has had stipulated in the terms of his agreement that he receive a certain price if he hit above a certain mark.

Henry H. Ketchum, captain of last year's football team at Yale, was yesterday chosen by his classmates as the man most to be admired in Yale university. Cornell, another football star, was elected to the most popular berth.

The Dartmouth baseball team will not make a southern trip this year according to the ruling made yesterday by Graduate Manager McAllister. 25 games have been placed on the schedule thus far, only twelve of which are at Hanover. The baseball candidates will have a beautiful grouse for the next few days for the boys always look forward to that trip down south.

The Irish-American games in New York the first of next month will prove an even bigger attraction this year than in the past. There will be a larger number of relay races for one thing. Harvard will send down two teams while the other large colleges will be represented by one.

The Federals now claim to have no less than thirty-three major league players signed up back and fast for next year. The latest acquisition to the outlaw league is Umpire Bill Brennan who has signed a three-year contract to render decisions for the new organization.

Gunboat Smith and Jesse Willard were matched yesterday to box twenty rounds in Frisco on July Fourth. Willard's manager was obliged to post a forfeit of $75000 in order to get Smith to affix his name to the articles. The two heavyweights met in that city last May when Smith was awarded the decision.

We are in receipt of a letter from Jack Wagner, the Lawrence handler of boxers, in regard to what he terms the "crust" of O. Brennan to the effect that he, Brennan, was better than Finney. Jack wishes to announce through this column that he stands ready at any time to substantiate his statements.

"Long Louis" Pieper and his schedule committee will soon be down to hard work. The Lawrence manager called a meeting in Boston last Saturday but not much business was transacted. With Lewiston and Fitchburg each clamoring it will be some job to appease them all this season.

Jack Britton outpointed Mike Glover last night in all but two of the ten rounds in their New York bout. The fifth and seventh were even, dispatches say, and Glover never had a look in for a minute. To read a certain Boston daily's dope one would think that Glover is a world's champion in temporary obscurity. Glover outwheeled Britton by several pounds.

Libbee and Cunningham are two fast youngsters who will bear watching in the coming track games of the high school. Although neither is very large they are both quick to get away from their marks and can fill a gap after "getting away." Libbee and Cunningham run the short sprint and the hurdles.

Carpentier, the French heavyweight, scored a knockout on Pat O'Keefe of French last night in the second round of their scheduled twenty-round fight. O'Keefe was badly outclassed and swung wildly in the first round while Carpentier peppered him with both hands. The knockout came as the result of a short right hook to the jaw. O'Keefe was out for several minutes.

Our old friend Jake Boutles will lead the Bridgeport team next season. Jake played a star game at third base for the Connecticut team last year and proved himself very popular with his teammates. Jake will still play his position as well as manage the club. Jake Cross is the deposed manager. Jake has sent word from his home in St. Louis that he will accept the job.

The Army seems to be the only hockey aggregation so far which can solve Holey Baker and his Tiger team. There was a great deal of talk about how the Army seven would put a stop to the elusive Mr. Baker but Princeton won the match between the two teams last night by a 5 to 0 score. Although Baker only scored one goal his work was responsible for every tally.

AT THE ARMORY

All Four Companies

Took Part in Athletic Program Last Night

All four of the local companies took part in the weekly athletic meeting at the armory last night, although K and C were the two teams scheduled to fight it out for honors. G and M played off an exhibition basketball game which the former won without the slightest exertion, the final score being 35 to 1. G did not allow her opponents to score a basket from the floor.

K won from C in points, taking eight points out of the 12. The basketball game between K and C was very close and kept the crowd in doubt as to the result from start to finish. K finally won this event by the score of 24 to 18. Angus caged the ball five times from the floor. C was the worst offender on fouls.

C was outclassed in the shooting contest. K scored 338 to C's 292. Corp. Cashin made the highest score of 77, closely followed by Cook Courtney with 76.

K showed the way to the front on the mileys as well and took the bowling with over a hundred pins to spare. Every string went to K. The high total was rolled by Gauthier and Capt. Gregg's 105 was the highest single. The scores were as follows:

OLD TIME FANS

Will Meet at Arlington Today—Arthur Salmon the Guiding Spirit

There will be a big time in Arlington this afternoon and evening when friendships of long years' standing will be renewed. The fellows who played the national game way back in 1873-4-5 will be the guests of Freeman N. Young in Arlington. The committee in charge includes Arthur F. Salmon, William H. Hawes and Charles O. Hall. These, we take it, are members of the old Bartlett baseball team, the conquering heroes of two score years ago. The Bartletts met and defeated such worthy competitors as the Pastimes of Chelmsford, Hickory club of Billerica, Leadhills of Lowell, Merrimacks, North Chelmsford, Excelsiors of Lowell, King Philips of Boston, Mutuals of Boston, Actives of South Weymouth, Emmets of Lowell, Noddies of East Boston, Stars of Boston, and a dozen others. Members of the old Bartlett team who went to Boston today included: Capt. George Worthen, superintendent of state aid; Arthur Salmon, Charles O. Hall, Al Ashworth, George Sladen, William Hawes, James Hanson and Frank McLaughlin of Lowell and Dr. Howard of Chelmsford. The Bartletts' old catcher, Eugene Stoughton, is in Cuba and a letter which he addressed to Mr. Young was read at the meeting.

Boston Newspapermen Visit Governor Walsh—New Child Labor Bill—Other Matters

An unprecedented incident occurred at the state house yesterday in the visit of 15 active newspaper men of Boston who voluntarily went before Governor Walsh to plead for the reappointment of Medical Examiner George Burgees McGrath, whose five-year term of office expired.

The party included: Leonard W. Libbee and John W. Moran of the Journal; Edward F. Martin, Walter McCloskey and Frederick L. Roche of the Globe; Joseph Carlin, Thomas McLoughlin and Theodore Wynn of the Post; John Cadigan of the Record; Frank R. Hutchins of the Herald; Harry McCormick of the Traveler; Nathaniel F. Nichols of the American and others.

Mr. Libby of the Journal, Mr. Martin of the Globe, Mr. Finn of the Post, Mr. Cadigan of the Record and Mr. Nichols of the American were the spokesmen. The reporters asked the governor to understand that their visit was voluntary on their part and that in no way, directly or indirectly, had it been suggested by Dr. McGrath or the medical examiner's friends. They came, their spokesmen said, because they believed it to be their duty to come. They feel that of all the citizens of Boston their work at police headquarters night and day throughout the year places them in a position to know what the medical examiner is doing. They one and all were agreed that a failure to reappoint Dr. McGrath would be a serious blow to the best interest of all the people of Boston.

The governor received them graciously and remarked smilingly that he envied the public official who could arouse so much enthusiasm from representatives of the press after so long a scrutiny of his actions. He also stated that he will reappoint all public officials whose terms of office will expire during his administration, except those against whom strong charges will be made and sustained.

New Child Labor Bill

Representative Henry Achin of this city filed a new child labor bill in the legislature yesterday which aims at reconciling the differences that have kept the present bill from being entirely satisfactory. The bill substitutes a physical test for all minors between the ages of 14 and 15 years, instead of the age limit as to hours of labor as in the present bill.

Mr. Achin, who was a member of the special house committee on hours of women and minors, says that in every city visited by the commission, there were husky boys less than 16 years old who were prevented from working while others, far less able to work, were employed. The proposed bill provides for the examination of minors between the ages of 14 and 15 by physicians under the state board of labor and industries and the granting to such boys of certificates, if they are found physically fitted for work. Mr. Achin says that his bill represents the views of half the members of the legislative committee of which he was a member.

To Amend Boston Charter

Representative Martin M. Lomasney filed a new bill yesterday for amendments to the Boston charter which would provide for an election of the city council by districts as follows: Wards 1 and 2, one member; wards 3, 4, 5, one member; wards 6, 7, 8, one member; wards 10, 11, 25, two members; wards 13, 14, 15, 16, two members; wards 9 and 12, one member; wards 17, 18, two members; ward 20, two members; ward 21, one member; ward 22, one member; ward 23, one member; wards 24, 26, two members.

The new Lomasney bill would take the place of those provisions of the city charter which now provide for the election of nine members at large.

MORE ICE RACES

Another Program Arranged for Thursday Afternoon

If the weather holds just right Lowell will be treated to a series of good ice races. It's a long time since such enthusiasm and interest has been shown in horse racing as is being made manifest at the present time and that is all due to the fact that a good live wire is at the head of it. Oscar Dowell is the man behind and he is arranging for a second program to be pulled off on Thursday afternoon of this week. The races Saturday afternoon attracted so many people to the scene of battle and so much interest was shown on all sides that Mr. Dowell decided to plan another race as soon as possible.

Entries received thus far for the Thursday afternoon program are as follows: Class A, pace—Counterhealer, owned by Mike Senecal; John W. owned by Kemp and Gordon. Class C, pace—Fred S. owned by Geo. Parker; Cracker Boy, owned by Frank O'Neill; William, owned by William Hall; Cabot, owned by Richard Murphy. Class B, trot—Bessie P. owned by P. Provencer; Frank O. owned by Frank O'Neill; Prince M. owned by Joseph LePage. Class D, trot—Cock Robin, owned by Frank Dimodanni; Single K. owned by Mike Senecal; King Direct, Jr., owned by Richard Murphy. Class E, pace—Billy and Baden.

PINKLET'S
The Laxative That Really Does Correct Constipation.

Constipation means that poisonous materials which should have been expelled from the body are being retained. At first there may be only a feeling of fullness and discomfort but soon the appetite fails, the digestion becomes disordered, the tongue coated, the breath offensive and there is a bad taste in the mouth.

The first step in correcting constipation is to stop the use of strong purgatives. Substitute for them the mild, non-gripping but effective laxative pills, Pinklets. Strong harsh purgatives are of little value in the treatment of constipation because they wear out the muscular activity of the bowels and finally lessen their sensibility to even the strongest stimulation. The continued use of purgatives always brings on chronic constipation instead of correcting it. With Pinklets you need have no such fear. They assist the bowels and liver just enough to get them in proper working order. Any druggist can supply you with Pinklets at 25 cents per bottle. Write today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy of the Pinklet book which tells all about the treatment of constipation.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP ABROAD

The pertinent question of public ownership or nationalization of railroads is not confined to America for in Great Britain, which is the only other important country besides America where the railroads are not wholly or in part nationalized, the question of the relations between the railroads and the state is pushing its way to the forefront of popular discussion. A few weeks ago the British government appointed a royal commission to enquire into the subject and though there is no probability of an immediate change, the many railroad troubles such as we are familiar with here in the case of the New Haven and other railroads that have got into the bad graces of the Interstate Commerce commission, will ultimately result in some important change if not in government ownership. In Great Britain, as here, corporate management of the railroads is on trial, and the alternative of public ownership and control is being debated with calmness and deliberation.

As an example of a country where nationalization of railroads may be said to be typical, Belgium stands at the top of the list. There the railroads are owned and controlled by the state and as the country is geographically suited to railroad development, being flat and compact, and otherwise favorable to railroad enterprise, a study of conditions there is interesting. An exhaustive investigation of the Belgian state reads a year ago shows that though government ownership of railroads has its obvious advantages, it has flaws important enough to make the merits of the system seem inadequate. According to the technical journal "Concerning Municipal Ownership," the investigation of the railroads of Belgium showed that state management has brought "excessive centralization and red tape," an abnormally large and ill-disciplined staff, whose salaries amounted for 50 per cent. of the total expenditure, and a lack both of initiative and responsibility among the heads of the various departments.

In rolling stock, train service, station equipment and the study of the convenience of travellers and traders, the Belgian railroad system is far behind England and America, due mainly to the absence of all competition. Rates are fixed, as they are in all cases of government ownership, by the arbitrary will of some administrative department or commission, with little or no discussion of the matter with traders and business people generally. They are usually uniform, unlike the rates in this country which are elastic and flexible and adaptable to the needs of different sections and varying conditions. It is generally admitted that railroad rates cannot be fixed on a strictly mathematical basis as tariff schedules are subject to change and must be arranged with many different needs in mind.

In two other important considerations also, says the journal above mentioned, quoting from the foreign investigator, the Belgian system is inferior to the privately owned system of England and America. These are efficiency in transportation and compensation for lost, damaged or delayed goods. The public of Belgium is not provided with such "rapid and dependable" treatment as the public here, and many of the state-managed railroads refuse to admit any responsibility whatever for delayed merchandise.

The great argument for government ownership of railroads, apart from the important considerations of labor and rates is that such a system would turn much of the profits made under private ownership, back to the public. While this is true in part it has been found that in Belgium and in Germany the government profits are not large and are gained mostly by sacrificing efficiency. There is also the danger of political combination which would substitute "pull" and graft for promotion gained by ability and faithfulness in duty. The railroads have had considerable influence in the past in shaping national and state policies, directly and indirectly, but there is the danger that under government ownership they would be availed of for political effect, with resultant loss of efficiency and little regard for economy. There are evils in the present American system in abundance, but there are many reasons why the public should pause and act slowly before advocating government ownership.

MAIL FRAUDS

Of all the forms of flagrant robbery that have been permitted to flourish for years with little attempt to suppress them, the mail frauds that bleed their victims daily are the most insidious and the most persistent. Realizing that "a fool and his money are soon parted" and that there are a great many of this particular type of fool, clever crooks think out various schemes to defraud which catch the eye of the unwary and get them interested, to their cost. The sad part of the matter is, that often the method of financial fraud prevails on the feelings of those whose ambition or desire for advancement is the motive that induces them to trust distant manipulators of dishonest schemes.

Besides the fraudulent lure of fake investments of which all people are more or less familiar, there are many other more insidious schemes that do their mischief under the guise of sincerity. While men have the craving to make a million out of an investment of twenty dollars we will have the "get rich quick" type of fraud. But what of the educational frauds? Who has not read glowing advertisements that promise wonderful artistic proficiency in ten lessons—all for $5.00. Then there are the dramatic lessons, and other fake schools that cast suspicion even upon the genuine; the literary syndicates that will teach one to become a short story writer and then place his output with leading publications at great profit, the "mail order" promises, the tuitions for government positions, and the thousand and one other things that bring financial gain to the mail of the mail fraud while confidence and trust are abused.

Again there are the fake cures for cancer, tuberculosis, and all the diseases that still baffle the great leaders of medicine. There are the beautifiers that will make a duckling into a swan; there are schemes to grow hair on bald heads and to change the stature and improve the complexion. There is no variety of alteration and repair of a human being physically and mentally which some "benefactor" of the race is not willing to let suffering humanity have for almost nothing. No tabulation would be complete without the drink cure by which by putting a little powder in a cup of coffee and giving it to her intemperate husband, a woman will ever after enjoy domestic felicity.

Not all of the schemes along these lines are fraudulent but a great many of them are. Depending on the lure of distance and knowing that hills are green far away the promoters of such a profitable trade on the ignorant and unsuspecting. And yet in the cities of the victims are reputable institutions and honest individuals striving to meet the need that the fake advertiser depends on for profit. Those who may be tempted then to fall victim should consult a local authority who may be able to throw light on the subject or else notify the proper authorities so that the real status of the advertiser may be discovered. It would be well for legitimate business of all descriptions were the mail snark put out of commission and honest men everywhere will be glad that the activity of the postoffice department is bringing many of them to justice.

MUNICIPAL LODGING HOUSES

If anything is wrong anywhere there is a certain type of individual who at once considers the advisability of making a law about it. Unfortunately this species of perpetual reformer is represented quite often in the legislature. It is not surprising, therefore, that one of the measures to be introduced soon at the state house is a proposition to give Boston municipal lodging-houses. It will be remembered that a little while ago there was a terrible fire in the Arcadia hotel of that city and several unfortunates lost their lives. Probably the man behind the bill for municipal lodging-houses believes that such an institution would at once regulate the conditions in Boston lodging-houses, but where such municipal experiment has been tried the effect is about the same as in unregulated Boston. There are laws enough now governing safety and sanitation in the lodging-houses of Boston and Lowell and there will be beneficial results if they are enforced. If we must have municipal lodging-houses why not have municipal homes?

SAFE APPROACH NEEDED

Whatever may be said of the scenic value of the new river road it must be apparent that its advantages to this city would be nullified by an approach that would have elements of danger. The elevated and steep street that now meets the river boulevard cannot be considered desirable because in view of the immense traffic which is sure to be drawn to the new thoroughfare, there would be constant inconvenience if not something more serious. What is needed is a new stretch of road from Indian Orchard which would bring the approach along by the river bank round a gentle curve. Whether viewed from the practical or artistic standpoint a new road there is needed so that Lowell may not suffer in comparison with Lawrence where the river road will reach the city by a route which has none of the elements that would make the use of First street here highly dangerous and undesirable.

block as the result of a lighted cigar or cigarette stub having been thrown into a barrel of rubbish, is only one of many such, and there is little hope that it will be the last. In this respect there is most reprehensible carelessness and it seems to be a matter that laws or regulations do not reach. With regard to these dangerous lighted stubs the greatest carelessness prevails, and they are thrown round not only in the vicinity of the home but even in the environs of crowded dance halls and other places where large numbers are congregated. The most tragic stories of large conflagrations in New York and elsewhere have been told to the discarded cigarette or cigar stub, and reminded of such a state of affairs by the local fire we can only regret the tendency of men to be thoughtless and wretched when they will wake up to the danger of their criminal carelessness.

After all the d-d-d-d predictions which have made the outlook on the Mexican question look dismal for many weeks past it is refreshing to find one who, apparently with good foundation, predicts peace and that speedily. Professor Wells of Clark college, Worcester, who returned from a visit to Mexico two or three days ago, says that the bulk of the people there are with the constitutionalists under Carranza and Villa and that peace is in sight. It is to be hoped that this is the professor's conviction as well as his wish; to prove that it is based on good authority he tells of his personal contact with the constitutionalist leaders whom he upholds. He also gives the hopeful message that constructive policies will follow the success of those whom Huerta calls "rebels."

HOODLUM EVIL GROWING

Commissioner O'Meara of Boston is no sentimentalist and when he warns the public against the growing evil of hoodlums, it is time to sit up and take notice, for he knows whereof he speaks, and he speaks only when occasion requires it. Breaking and entering among juveniles, according to him,

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache. "After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

have increased over 50 per cent. of late, and two-thirds of the boys and young men who lounge around the Boston streets are tainted with rowdiness. This, Mr. O'Meara blames on the juvenile laws which have codified the juvenile delinquent and made a new generation of youthful law breakers. The cure he suggests is more stringent laws governing the punishment of juvenile offenders and the breaking up of the gang spirit from which all cities suffer as well as Boston—if not quite as much, comparatively.

The superintendent of parks says he will be very careful in future relative to the flooding of the skating rink at Shedd park. The flooding of the rink yesterday made trouble in Belvidere. The fact of the matter is that Lowell's water supply is not what it used to be and, besides, the daily consumption is very heavy at this particular time because of the cold weather. The daily consumption for the last two weeks or so has been more than 5,000,000 gallons and because of the fact that the wells at the boulevard do not yield as generously as of yore it doesn't require much over exertion to roll the water. Last Tuesday night there were quite a number of fires and considerable water was used. Wednesday morning, in a number of places throughout the city, the water was not fit for domestic purposes. The boulevard supply is being reinforced at the present time by the Cook wells and but for the Cook well supply Lowell would be in a bad way at the present time. The state board of health has said that a steady pull on the Cook wells through lead pipe was dangerous because of the action of the water on the pipes. The water contains a carbonic acid gas that performs peculiarly and dangerously lead pipe causing, in the end, lead poisoning. The chemists have been working on the Cook well water and are satisfied that the carbonic acid gas can be eliminated by aeration and this is hailed as very good news in view of the crippled condition of the boulevard supply. The boulevard wells have been overworked and they need a rest. Commissioner Carmichael hopes to be able to locate another belt of wells along Hale's brook, the vicinity of the Cook wells, and if they turn out as good as the present wells, known as the Cook wells, the yield will be sufficiently great to admit of closing the boulevard wells for months at a time.

In his annual report, John W. Kernan, superintendent of parks, refers to the mortar gun secured by Congressman Rogers, as follows:

A thirteen ton mortar gun has been received from the navy department at Washington through the interest of Congressman John Jacob Rogers. The mortar is certainly a rare relic, and the congressman is to be thanked for his efforts. As it was received late in the fall it rests on a temporary location on the North common. The municipal council having voted that it should be placed on this common, a permanent location will be decided on in the spring. It is recommended a concrete base with a slab of Rockport granite one foot in thickness, having the sides rough, as a suitable foundation for the gun. The estimated cost of same will be approximately $300.

If any proprietor of a livery stable had so many horses that he could not shelter them on these winter nights he would be considered a poor business man. In addition to being liable to just prosecution at the hands of the M. S. P. C. A. Locomotives are the horses of a railroad. While they have no feelings or sentimentality, the neglect of a locomotive is a crime against the prevention of cruelty to railroad locomotives, nevertheless, their anatomies suffer from the cold to such an extent that they are rendered useless. As a pure business proposition the liveryman at the railroad are in the same position.

The New Haven road herds its iron horses in a pasture in South Boston. It was so cold two of the nights this week that even the more favored steeds, which were allowed stalls in the roundhouses, were frostbitten. The poor nags out in the open in many cases, became solid as rocks.

Of course the road needs to be economical and therefore is not feeling humane toward inanimate locomotives; but if you want a horse, of iron or flesh, to do good work you must take good care of it.

It is not using the poor locomotives right!—Boston Globe.

There are signs of renewed strength in the egg market. This means that there will be evidences of weakness in a good many breakfast tables. Eggs are going up again. There can be little doubt about it. The hen lays at certain times of the year, provided she is not too cold. If she is too cold, she does not attend to the duties of her industry. Eggs dropped a bit in December, because it was warm enough, during that month, to give the hens some encouragement, but that is not the case now. The cold of recent times has reduced the egg production in most places to something very close to the zero mark. Those who have talked much about the egg trust and have urged that legislatures, both national and state, investigate this supposed anti-Sherman law concern, are invited to ponder upon the hen and the cold. The more they watch the egg market and the thermometer, at the same time, the more will they come to the conclusion that there is a profound connection between the two, and that cold storage is not the only cold factor in the egg situation.—Boston Advertiser.

And I would stop to help him when
His lips in frowns are curled,
Both you and I'd be helping them
To make a better world."

"Don't hunt after trouble, but look for success."

You'll find what you look for, don't look for distress.
If you see but your shadow, remember, I pray,
That the sun is still shining, but you're in the way.
Don't grumble, don't bluster, don't dream and don't shrink;
Don't think of your worries, but think of your work.
The worries will vanish; the work will be done.
No man sees his shadow who faces the sun."

EUGENICS

Fall River Globe: This eugenic marriage law in Wisconsin is having a paralyzing effect on the matrimonial industry. If the legislature of that state, by a vote of Milwaukee for the first week in the year after it went into operation is any criterion to judge by. During that period there were but five marriage licenses issued as against a daily average of 25 under the old law. That would indicate that it is not likely to score a success either from a sociological or a moral viewpoint.

POTATO PRICES

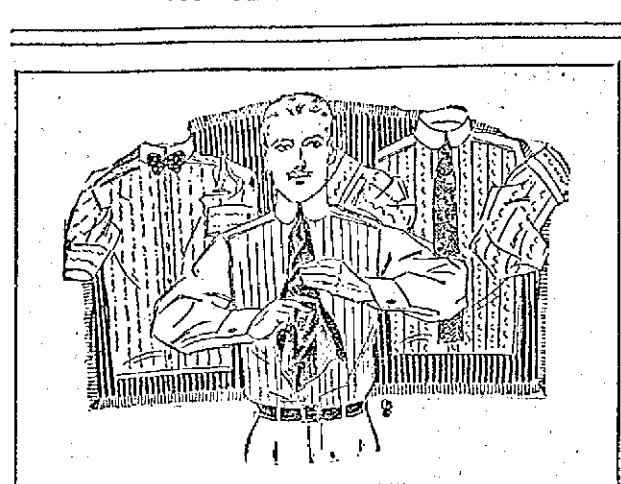

Boston Herald: Though the potato crops a bad harvest, the price is 15 to 20 cents a bushel higher than in recent years, and the government accuses the growers of holding back the crop to bring about this end. Yet these same growers of the potatoes are the loudest and longest against combinations in restraint of trade.

RESTRAINT OF TRADE

Fall River Herald: Work of doctoring the Sherman anti-trust law has begun in congress. The president has given assurance that the law itself is satisfactory. The Sherman law is in present conditions, his only purpose being to clear up the debatable ground around it. The supreme court's "rule of reason" decision as applied to the restraint of trade feature of the Sherman law may fairly be termed debatable ground. What may appear reasonable to one man or one judge may appear unreasonable to another. To remove this element of uncertainty Representative Stanley of Kentucky has introduced an amendment to the Sherman law which would make ille-

SOUTH AFRICAN TROUBLE

Portland Express: This ugly row in South Africa is one of those cancerous sores which human society develops from time to time, without apparent specific cause. The South African strikers are fighting for no definite improvements like shorter hours and longer wages—or not primarily for these things. The trouble represents the conflict of two systems, two attitudes of mind. It is the philosophy of kick against the pricks, the philosophy for the upper hand, between those who, by energy and enterprise, happen to possess the upper hand, and those whom circumstances has hitherto denied the upper hand.

A POOR SHOWING

Springfield Union: Less than one third of the registered women voters in Boston took the trouble to vote for the school board candidates this year. There was a falling off of 38 per cent. from the women's vote in the 1913 school board election, a rather poor showing considering the fact that there was a sharp contest between the opposing candidates.

PRACTICE AND THEORY

Norwich Record: Speaking at a Harvard club dinner Dr. Elliot opposed the plan of teaching English to the Philippines as of doubtful value, while Mr. Taft remained in reply that he was responsible for the policy. In the Philippines for 13 years as governor general, secretary of war, and as president of the United States. Teaching of English was necessary, he said, where 12 or 13 different dialects were spoken, none of any great value. And he added that the natives are eager to learn English, which is already spoken in the islands more than Spanish. Dr. Elliot talked like a theorist and Mr. Taft spoke from his experience as an administrator.

MAYOR OF QUINCY ACTS

Makes Clean Sweep, Leaving Only City Clerk at City Hall—Has Kept His Ante Election Promise

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Mayor Miller of Quincy announced his official family to the city council at an adjourned meeting of that body last evening, and with but one exception—that of city clerk—there will be new heads of the various municipal departments after Monday, Feb. 2. The mayor is evidently a man of his word. He promised such a change before election so that it did not come unexpected, although with many mayors campaign promises are soon forgotten.

The "sweep" is in keeping with his anti-election promise that he would, if elected, "clean up the city hall," and he informed a reporter that every appointee has given assurance of acceptance and of entering promptly on the discharge of his duties.

The axe falls not only on the highest salaried official—commissioner of public works, receiving $2400—but it has also hewn all along the line, many of the positions of honor and no salary being included. A few of the minor offices, which have recently been brought under the civil service, have been left untouched, as well as that of city engineer with salary of $1800, for the present, at least.

"It is simply a matter of courtesy," added Mayor Miller, "that I send the list of my appointments to the city council, for it has nothing to do with their confirmation."

List of Appointees

The following is the list: City treasurer, John Curtis; solicitor, Walter S. Pinkham; clerk, Emory L. Crane; public works commissioner, Moses Brown; collector, John J. O'Hara; overseer of the poor, Peter Green; engineer of the fire department, Faxon E. Billings; city physician, Dr. Fred A. Bartlett; chairman of the board of assessors, Gustave B. Bates; inspector of buildings, J. C. Merrill; inspector of milk, Daniel Schouler, Jr.; inspector of animals, Francis Aberle, Jr.; dock and waterfront commissioner, Frank Fessenden Crane; inspector of plumbing, Jeremiah J. Kenley; inspector of meats and provisions, James F. Allen; park commissioners, Ira M. Whittemore, Walter Deacon and H. D. Chapman; managers of public burial places, Albert W. Fay, Thomas Bishop, Joseph Vogel, John Evans, Howard Rogers and John Q. Cutworth; trustees of public library, Charles A. Safford, Henry McGath, George A. Stelbinger, Albert N. Murray, George Aberle and Harry W. Reid.

The new treasurer, Mr. Curtis, and the collector, Mr. O'Hara, held the same offices for four years under Mayor Shea. City solicitor-to-be Pinkham has been president of the council, and the future chief of the fire department, Faxon E. Billings, is acting captain of the combination company at Atlantic and a veteran fire fighter.

The next public works commissioner, Moses L. Brown, has been service with the Massachusetts highway commission. For Chief Assessor Bates this will be his first public position.

THE CENSORING OF PLAYS

Ex-Alderman Cummings Says Charter Places This Duty in Ald. Donnelly's Hands

"What is all this talk about the mayor's private secretary censoring plays, vaudeville and moving pictures? What has the mayor or his private secretary got to do about it?" said ex-Commissioner Cummings this morning. "They haven't anything to do about it," he continued, "because the theatres or playhouses do not come under their jurisdiction. They are not included in the mayor's department and if a show was off color it wouldn't be up to the mayor or his private secretary."

"The theatres come under the department of public property and licenses which includes the following sub-departments and all boards and offices connected therewith: wit-, buildings, parks, public grounds, cemeteries, electrical, weights and measures and license commission. So you can plainly see that this matter is up to Commissioner Donnelly and not to the mayor. I had applications for the position last year and the year before but did not consider them very seriously. I visited the theatres myself several times for that purpose and ordered several changes, too."

This statement came in the nature of a surprise to the mayor's secretary who had been denouncing all the dramatic criticism he could find and even studying the Anthony Comstock prohibited list in order that he might get fully equipped in the art of dramatic and theatrical criticism.

Mr. Cummings did the work during his term of service without any brass bands or private secretaries.

BANKERS MEET

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Bankers from several neighboring states were prepared today to thrash out differences regarding the size of the federal reserve bank district of which Chicago may be the center when the second day's hearing was begun before William G. MEXICAN REFUGEES SAFE ON AMERICAN SOIL AND GENERAL MENACED BY DEATH THREATS

1. REFUGEES ON ARRIVAL ON AMERICAN SOIL. 2. Gen. MERCADO. 3. U.S. SOLDIERS GUARDING REFUGEES.

PRESIDIO, Tex., Jan. 20.—The removal from here of the large body of Mexican refugees was an unusual spectacle, and the destitute men and women suffered severe hardships from hunger and cold. None of those in the unique caravan which, with its disarmed Mexican soldiers, women, children, horses, burros and dogs, struggled for miles along the road, was more visibly affected on coming with-

in sight of Marfa than General S. Mercado, the commander who ordered the evacuation of Ojinaga in face of the rebels' fire. Riding on a horse, his uniform covered with dust, he was confessedly humiliated not only at the defeat of his army and the necessity for flight to foreign soil, but also because of a report from Mexico City that he would be court-martialed and executed should he return to his native country. Both President Huerta and General Villa, the rebel chieftain, have threatened him with death. Huerta is determined to go to Chihuahua at the head of a force of federals and endeavor to rout the army of General Villa. He is willing to have Cabinet Minister Madero named acting president. His advisers have told him that his departure from the capital would indicate compliance with the wishes of President Wilson that he abdicate.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH

LAWRENCE, Jan. 20.—Writhing on the floor with her clothes and body a mass of flames, Mrs. Mary A. Burckel, widow of Henry Burckel and mother of ex-Representative Alfred J. Burckel, was found at her home early Monday morning. She died a few hours later after being removed to the Lawrence General hospital. Just how her clothing caught fire could not be ascertained but it is felt that she was putting wood or coal on a fire in the kitchen stove when her apron ignited.

SPECIAL TENEMENT INSPECTORS

LAWRENCE, Jan. 20.—Health Inspectors John Fleming and James P. Tierney were appointed and confirmed special police officers at the regular meeting of the city government Monday morning. They will begin tonight on their duties of inspecting tenements in the thickly settled districts and in order to be vested with full authority they were made special police officers at the request of Alderman Todd. They will be uniformed.

Pain From Dental Operations In Unknown When in the ANALGESIC STAGE

Dr. Gagnon's "Nap-a-Mint," the great pain destroyer, like his porcelain dentistry, is far ahead of other methods.

ANALGESIA IS PERFECTLY HARMLESS

Persons with neurasthenic tendencies, heart trouble, kidney disease or Bright's disease may use it without ill effect.

When in the state of analgesia the patient acquires a restful mood, knows absolutely no pain and can undergo the most severe dental operation with a contentment akin to pleasure. In fact, ANALGESIA IS A DELIGHTFUL STAGE pressing on the patient a happy, care-free mood to which there is no ill effect during the condition or afterward.

Where a patient's physical condition forbids the use of anesthetic, the administration of "NAP-A-MINT" to the extent of ANALGESIA is not only perfectly harmless but positively efficient. With people of neurasthenic tendencies, heart disease, kidney trouble or Bright's disease, where the administration of GAS, CHLOROFORM or ETHER MIGHT RESULT MOST SERIOUSLY, the state of ANALGESIA, induced by "NAP-A-MINT" IS ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS. In fact, the oxygen utilized in this wonderful pain destroyer is the greatest known restorative to weakened physical condition and its use has frequently been the cause of prolonging life for days in cases of mortal illness.

In keeping with the modern methods that have always been employed by the porcelain dentist of this city, Dr. Gagnon has introduced in connection with his up-to-date dental offices the use of "NAP-A-MINT." Henceforth at these offices, Nos. 103 Merrimack St. and 466 Merrimack St., teeth will be extracted, nerves killed, fillings, crowns and bridge-work inserted and all sorts of surgical operations performed without the slightest pain or discomfort while the patient is in the harmless and really delightful stage of ANALGESIA.

SALISBURY BEACH AGAIN

Bill to Have Constitution Amended in Order to Allow Land to be Seized for Public Use

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Representative S. Abbott of Haverhill files the petition of Arthur Harrington of Boston, counsel for the cottage owners at Salisbury beach last year for legislation to amend the state constitution so as to allow public bodies to take land by the right of eminent domain on payment of just compensation therefor and hold, lease, use or sell the same at such times and for such purposes as it believes to be for the common good.

The article of amendment proposed by Mr. Harrington is as follows: Article ten of part one of the constitution of the commonwealth is hereby amended by adding thereto the following paragraph: The legislature may take or authorize public bodies to take land by right of eminent domain on payment of just compensation therefor and hold, lease, use or sell the same at such times and for such purposes as it believes to be for the common good.

Feel Out of Sorts?

IT'S A GOOD IDEA TO LOOK FOR THE CAUSE!

One common, but often unsuspected cause is coffee-drinking. Yet some persons seem able to get along with coffee—at least for a time. But when headache, bilious days come; breakfast or some other meal doesn't taste good; and the days' work goes wrong. (Ever feel that way?)—then it's time to find out for sure if coffee is causing the trouble in your case.

There's a subtle, poisonous drug, "caffeine," in coffee that interferes with the normal functions of body, brain and nerves, and has a lot to do with one's comfort and progress.

Suppose for a test you try the simple expedient of quitting coffee and using well-made

POSTUM

—a pure food-drink made of choice wheat. It has a delightful Java-like flavour, but is absolutely free from caffeine or any other drug.

After ten days or two weeks you will be able to decide whether to go back to coffee troubles, or stick to Postum and peace and comfort.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water and adding cream and sugar to taste.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds.

NARROW ESCAPE
Mason Slipped From 8 Story Staging and Dangled in Mid Air
BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Eight stories above the street level, Charles Anderson and John Guitano of Revere were standing on the staging, pulling it up the side of the building with ropes, when the accident occurred. Guitano pulled his rope too fast. It is claimed, with the result that the staging became unbalanced. It nearly tipped over, but Anderson caught the rope just as he was sliding off the boards. Guitano, on the higher end of the staging, did not lose his footing, and with the aid of other workmen he succeeded in drawing up the staging under Anderson so that the latter could get firmly upon it.

3 ESCAPE IN DAYLIGHT

Burglars Rip Up Planks in Prison Van on Way to Jail and Drop to Liberty in Street

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Ripping the floor boards from the prison van as it was being driven through Cambridge street, West End, on its way from the Suffolk county courthouse to the Charles street jail three notorious house breakers, who had been remanded for trial, made their escape in broad daylight yesterday afternoon.
The first two made their escape without detection, while the third was seen as he dropped to the street, narrowly escaping being run over by the wheels of the vehicle. He was chased through Blossom street by Patrolman Casey of the Joy street station, but eluded capture by dodging into a narrow alleyway off Anderson street. The men who escaped were Charles

Ronan, better known as "Raffles," the gentleman burglar, express thief and pickpocket; George A. Ward and William H. Jones, better known as "Casey" Jones, both burglars, who were arrested early Sunday morning charged with a series of burglaries in the Back Bay, Dorchester and in Kennebunk and Sanford, Me.

The men had been in the custody of the staff of Chief Inspector John R. McGarr during the entire forenoon, being questioned by the officers and Deputy Sheriff Ernest Jones of Sanford, Me. They were returned to the city prison and shortly after 2 o'clock were arraigned before Judge Ely in the municipal court.
Ronan and Ward pleaded not guilty to the charges of breaking and entering two houses in the Back Bay and were held in $1200 until Jan. 26 for a hearing. Jones waived examination and was held in $100 for the grand jury, an additional charge of carrying a loaded revolver being made against him.
After court had adjourned George L. Twombly, a court officer in the municipal court, was assigned to take 10 prisoners to the Charles street jail in the regular van. The driver of the van, Cornelius J. Brennan, backed his wagon up to the courtyard door and Court Officer Twombly placed the wooden boards had been ripped up and a hole large enough for a man to drop through had been made. Chief Inspector John R. McGarr sent out 16 inspectors, all of whom know the three fugitives well, to scour for them. The alarm was sent to every station house in the city and inside of 20 minutes the entire force was searching for the men. Word was also transmitted to the surrounding police officials in the various towns.

Despite the efforts of the police, the men are still at large.

Chased From the Residence of R. S. Fox in Dracut—Shots Fired
After breaking into the henry of R. S. Fox in Dracut and filling a cloth bag with 12 hens and one rooster, two young men who are said to be well known in this city, were chased from the town of Dracut, last evening by a number of citizens headed by the town constable, who fired several shots from his trusty shot gun in the hope of halting the thieves who were running at top speed toward this city.
Shortly after 5 o'clock last night Mr. Fox heard the crowing of a rooster in front of his house and upon investigation learned that the door of his hen house was open and that two men were making their way up Pleasant street. Several of his neighbors also heard the clucking notes of the rooster and the striding of Dracutites gave chase to the two strangers who were making a vigorous get away with their loot.

The weight of the birds proved too much and after running a few hundred yards they were forced to drop their bundle and get out of reach of the constable and his volunteers who were gaining on them every minute. Despite the fact that shot after shot was fired into the air by the constable, the two men kept on, and when they approached near Bridge street they left the residents of Dracut bewildered as to which way they had gone.
Some of the farmers believe they got near enough to the pilferers to get a description of them and it is stated that they were both recognized as young men known in the locality.
